TPWD Game Warden Field Notes

The following items are compiled from recent Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement reports.

--High Speed Internship-- A Mitchell County game warden and a Texas Parks and Wildlife summer intern were on patrol late one evening when they heard radio traffic about a subject in the neighboring county firing shots from his vehicle. Nolan County authorities attempted to pull the subject over, which resulted in a multi-agency pursuit. The subject drove into Mitchell County where the Department of Public Safety set up a spike strip; the game warden and intern were set up about 200 yards away from the spikes. The subject was then taken into custody. After the pursuit, authorities began a search for a pistol that was tossed out of the window by the subject; and found it two days later. Speeds during the pursuit ranged from 45 mph to 110 mph. The incident was a result of a family disturbance.

-- Size Matters -- Game wardens from Freestone and Anderson County were patrolling Cedar Creek Lake in Henderson County for water safety and fishing violations when they saw four people fishing from a boat. When the wardens got closer to the boat, they saw a stringer of catfish in the water, and a couple of them seemed to be undersized. The fisherman said they normally fish on Lake Palestine, which has no minimum length on channel or blue catfish. The wardens informed them that the standard length is 12-inch minimum for channel and blue catfish on Cedar Creek. One citation was issued.

--BW1 on Lake Austin-- Four Travis County game wardens were patrolling Lake Austin when they stopped a vessel for a water safety inspection. During the inspection, one of the wardens noticed that the operator showed signs of being intoxicated, so they instructed him to board the patrol boat. After leading the subject through a series of float tests, the wardens saw that the boat contained several empty beer cans. The operator was transported to the shore for a field sobriety test and then taken to the Travis County jail for boating while intoxicated.

--Alcohol and Water Don’t Really Mix-- A Sabine County game warden was on patrol on Sam Rayburn Reservoir when he saw a boat moving though a restricted area. The warden made contact with the vessel and conducted a water safety inspection. During the inspection, a strong odor of alcohol was coming from the operator. The operator refused on-the-water tests, but he did agree to go to the bank for a field sobriety test, which he failed. The subject was arrested for boating while intoxicated.

--Too Many Catfish-- Freestone and Anderson County game wardens were patrolling Cedar Creek Lake in Henderson County when they saw two people fishing on a boat. The wardens approached the vessel and asked how the fish were biting. One of the fishermen said, “Not too good, just a few chicken heads.” One of the wardens began to count and measure the catfish that were in the two coolers on-board and found that one of the coolers held 10 undersized catfish and that they were two fish over the 25-fish bag limit. The other cooler contained three undersize catfish and was 14 over the bag limit. Each individual was issued a citation for undersize catfish and for exceeding the bag limit. One subject also received a citation for no fishing license. The illegal fish were confiscated and donated.

Strollin’ With Stroman

By Dean Stroman

The dog days of summer are upon us with one hundred degree days and seventy to eighty degree nights. When the wind is bellowing, the day time fishing can be downright miserable. The best big bass fishing is at night and good night trips start with adequate preparation. There are several don’ts you need to be aware of if you are planning a night time trip. Always make sure you are familiar with the area you are going to fish. Don’t make a night trip to unfamiliar water and don’t wear white clothing after dark. Green, gray or blue are preferable. White clothes will attract every bug from miles away.

Take plenty of bug spray even though most bugs will not bite, the repellant will help keep them from crawling on you all night. Make sure your batteries are fully charged. You will be using more battery power because your lights will be on all night. Don’t turn off your running lights. It’s the law. Running lights must be on after dark. If you don’t keep them on you will meet one of our game wardens. They don’t accept any excuses. Keep them on.

Get to your fishing area before dark and familiarize yourself with the surrounding area. Make sure you have a good, well-charged portable

Texas bird hunters might consider investing in an extra box or two of shells this year to take advantage of increased bag and possession limits and expanded opportunities.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has approved for Texas this year an expanded Special White-wing Dove Area (SWWDA), a six bird daily bag during the September teal season and increased possession limits for all migratory game birds.

The SWWDA will now extend eastward along its current boundary and continue south along Interstate 37 from San Antonio to Corpus Christi, effectively doubling its current size.

“For the last two decades, white-winged dove populations have steadily expanded both their numbers and their geographical extent,” said Dave Morrison, Small Game Program Director with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. “We believe, and the Service agrees, an expansion is appropriate to take advantage of additional hunting opportunities.”

To take advantage of the earliest possible opening dates for the special area, the season will run Sunday, Sept. 1 through Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 2, and then reopen Saturday, Sept. 7 and Sunday, Sept. 8. The bag limit during the four-day season is 15 doves in the aggregate to include no more than two mourning doves and two white-tipped doves and hunting is permitted only from noon to sunset.

Also new this year, teal hunters will be able to take up to six teal daily during the statewide September teal-only season, set to run Sept. 14-29. The early Canada goose season will also run Sept. 14-29 in the Eastern Goose Zone with a daily bag limit of three Canada geese.

Under new rules, the possession limit for all migratory game birds is three times the daily bag.
Even people who don’t like seafood will find it hard to resist this “Grilled Catfish With Cucumber Salad.”

Grilled Catfish With Cucumber Salad
(Serves 6)

1. Soak the wooden skewers in water, and refrigerate for one hour. This will prevent the wood from burning during cooking.

2. Combine the soy sauce, 1 tablespoon vinegar, brown sugar, ginger and garlic in a small bowl. Stir well to dissolve the sugar. Set aside.

3. Cut the catfish fillets lengthwise into four thin strips. Two of the strips will be longer than the others.

4. Thread one catfish strip onto each wooden skewer. Cover the catfish skewers with the marinade, and refrigerate for several hours.

5. When ready to serve, grill the skewers for three minutes per side, and serve fish warm on a bed of Cucumber Salad as a first course, or from a buffet table with a choice of sauces.

6. To prepare Cucumber Salad, place cucumbers and onion in a glass bowl. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Refrigerate for several hours if possible. This salad will last for several days if refrigerated.

Give the fish what they really want!

light for knot tying and fish landing. Night fishing can be very rewarding. Being prepared can make a big difference.

Bass are active at night during late spring and summer months. Telemetry studies have shown largemouth bass concentrate as much as ninety percent of their activity during the night hours when the water temperature is above seventy-six degrees. Water oxygen content will affect bass activity at night. During the day, plants convert carbon dioxide to oxygen. After dark the water around aquatic plants such as hydrilla have some of the highest concentrations of oxygen of the twenty-four hour period. However, during the night time hours, plants start using oxygen in the water and the levels will drop as darkness proceeds. During this period from dark until dawn most feeding bass will move to the outside edges to feed.

‘Take the Plunge’ Into Enjoying Seafood

By Sue Hampton

When someone insists that he doesn’t like seafood, it often means that he’s had some sort of negative experience, like stale-tasting frozen fish sticks or fast-food fillets. Many complain about the “fishy taste” of seafood as the chief obstacle to their enjoyment of this excellent source of protein, B vitamins, phosphorus and heart-healthy omega-3 fatty acids.

However, properly prepared seafood should taste sweet and delicate, never “fishy.” Catfish, a staple ingredient here on Lake Fork is an excellent way to “get your feet wet” with cooking fish. Tremendously versatile, it can be used in any recipe calling for a white flesh fish and is often used as a substitute for chicken. Catfish cooks quickly – ideal for today’s busy families – and can be baked, broiled, steamed, poached or prepared in a number of other creative ways.

For example, this easy recipe for “Grilled Catfish With Cucumber Salad” utilizes that warm-weather cooking staple – the grill. With just 162 calories, it’s hard to find a simpler way to, well, “take the plunge” into preparing and enjoying seafood.

Grilled Catfish With Cucumber Salad

(Serves 6)

16 wooden skewers
¼ cup soy sauce
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1 clove garlic, crushed
4 Catfish
Cucumber Salad
2 cucumbers, thinly sliced
1 onion, thinly sliced
½ cup vinegar
1 cup water
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon liquid, non-sugar sweetener
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

1. Soak the wooden skewers in water, and refrigerate for one hour. This will prevent the wood from burning during cooking.
2. Combine the soy sauce, 1 tablespoon vinegar, brown sugar, ginger and garlic in a small bowl. Stir well to dissolve the sugar. Set aside.
3. Cut the catfish fillets lengthwise into four thin strips. Two of the strips will be longer than the others.
4. Thread one catfish strip onto each wooden skewer. Cover the catfish skewers with the marinade, and refrigerate for several hours.
5. When ready to serve, grill the skewers for three minutes per side, and serve fish warm on a bed of Cucumber Salad as a first course, or from a buffet table with a choice of sauces.
6. To prepare Cucumber Salad, place cucumbers and onion in a glass bowl. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Refrigerate for several hours if possible. This salad will last for several days if refrigerated.
TPWD Taking Public Comment on Use of Dogs to Trail Wounded Deer

 Hunters could use dogs to trail a wounded deer in 12 counties in East Texas, a practice that has been prohibited in this area of the state since 1990, under a proposal being considered by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

 A series of public meetings were held to provide details of the proposal and gave the public an opportunity to comment. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission is expected to take action on the proposed change at its August 22 meeting.

 In 1990 TPWD adopted rules prohibiting the use of dogs to trail wounded deer in 34 East Texas counties. The rulemaking was necessary because the department determined that dogs were being used unlawfully to hunt deer, which was causing depletion of the resource.

 By 2000, TPWD determined that the practice of using dogs to hunt deer had declined to the point of being nonexistent in some of those counties and removed the prohibition in 10 of those counties. TPWD now believes the prohibition could be lifted in an additional 12 counties, including: Harris, Harrison, Houston, Jefferson, Liberty, Montgomery, Panola, Polk, Rusk, San Jacinto, Trinity, and Walker.

 Details about the proposal, along with an opportunity to provide public comment, can be found online at http://www.tpwd.state.tx.us/business/feedback/public_comment/proposals/201308_deer_dog.xml. Comment may also be made in writing to Robert Macdonald, TPWD Regulations Coordinator, 4200 Smith School Rd., Austin, TX 78744, at the TPWD annual public hearing on Aug. 21 at 2 p.m. at the above address.

 At the conclusion of each public hearing that was held recently, wildlife officials conducted a brief presentation on deer management and regulations in the Pineywoods. TPWD staff presented information related to regulations and data collection and took questions regarding deer management, deer hunting and regulations.
