West Virginia angler wins the 7th Annual Ford Mega Bass on Lake Fork

By: Conor Harrison

Joshua Franklin makes the 940-mile one-way trip from his home in Huntington, West Virginia to Lake Fork several times a year. His father-in-law used to own a house on the lake, and the draw of possibly winning a big tournament on the lake has kept him coming back.

Franklin finally realized his dream when he hooked a 10.9-pound bass around 11:45 a.m. to win the event and take home a new Ford F-150, a Skeeter ZX 200, Yamaha 200 SHO and Minn-Kota-Humminbird package. The big fish allowed the Mountaineer state angler to best more than 1,800 other anglers at the biggest one-day bass tournament in the world. The Ford Mega Bass presented by Biorbor.

“We got to the lake Tuesday night and began fishing Wednesday,” he said. “The water temps were up and down and the rain forced a six hour delay at the start. We had extremes with ice and snow on Thursday morning and to close out the tournament on Sunday we had rain all day. Temperatures ranging from the 20’s to the 70’s challenged anglers.

Lake Fork is home to Common and Mirror Carp that have been known to grow in excess of 40 pounds and Smallmouth Buffalo that are known to grow in excess of 80 pounds. Due to fallen timber and standing trees, the Lake Fork Carp & Buffalo Challenge is a real test to its competitors. The venue proved to be an exciting challenge to all competitors as they strived to capture champion Carp and Smallmouth Buffalo.

The Lake Fork Carp & Buffalo Challenge is an international event. Teams came to Rains and Wood County from Europe, Canada and all over the U.S. These teams spent from 8 days to more than 2 weeks in our area. They stayed in motels, ate in restaurants and shopped in retail businesses. The economic impact for this tournament will be in the thousands of dollars. The anglers were competing for over $14,000 in prize money.

The Big Winners were the following:

Big Carp

1st Place 29 pounds 1 ounce Frank Kessler & Jason Aylott $350.00

Big Buffalo

1st Place 54 pounds 11 ounces Norbert Samok

It wouldn’t take a dream expert to analyze Bubba’s dreams. For those of us that know him it would not be difficult to guess just what he dreams about.

In his younger years he will admit he dreamed about the “Hooter Girls and the “Dallas Cheerleaders”, but that was before meeting Bubbette the love of his dreams. Now in what he refers to as his “Golden Years”, Bubba’s dreams consist mainly of drinking Bud Light and fishing anywhere except in Dallas.

Now when I refer to Bubba’s dreaming, this doesn’t mean he is always asleep. This man’s daydreams can put Rip VanWinkle to shame. He can be driving his truck or speeding across the lake to get to one of his honey holes and just have a doosie of a dream.

A couple of times, with the fear factor present, I’ve had to arouse him. When I’ve asked him where he was at, he would reply, “Oh, I was just having a little daydream!”

Bubba has shared some of his dreams with me and believe me that man has a vivid imagination. The best thing about Bubba’s dreams though is that no one ever gets hurt and evidently they bring him a lot of enjoyment.

One of his favorites and he insists it might come true because it is a reoccurring dream is that he fishes his way to the Bassmasters and wins.

That is not so far fetched. Many anglers dream of that, but Bubba’s dreams go in depth far beyond that point. In his dream he beats everyone in the competition by 50 pounds per day and at the end of the tournament all the pros want his autograph and insist he give them tips on his fishing expertise. I told him I didn’t think he would ever be able to do that with a Zebco 33. (I can’t tell you what he told me on that one.)

My favorite one he has shared with me is him catching the new world record large-mouth bass. He has even seen this one tilt the scales at 28.62 pounds. That is doing some mighty powerful dreaming. In this dream he even picks up sponsors and does television commercials. Can you imagine Bubba doing a Fruit of the Loom commercial? In case this dream does come true I want to be around for this one. Bubba has been practicing the American Express commercial. It doesn’t quite sound like any I’ve ever heard, but who knows we might have to give him credit.

Bubba’s version goes like this: “Howdy you all! You and yours probably don’t have a clue as to who I am, that’s why I carry this here plastic thing! People may not recognize me in my fishing gear at the rib house or at the chicken fried steak place, which’s why I carry this thang. Whether on the pond or on a lake, make no mistake, you present this and you can get a rib or steak! Don’t leave your shack without it!”

Now if you saw this, wouldn’t it just make you want to go out and extend your credit rating?

With all dreams there comes the scary ones and Bubba has a few of those. His consists of wanting to go fishing and not being able to find his boat, not being able to find the lake, Bubbette selling all his fishing stuff at one of her garage sales, and the “Dallas Cheerleaders” and the “Hooter Girls” all wanting to go fishing with him. (Well okay, maybe not the last one. I just wanted to see what Bubbette would do to him.)

To top all of this off someone made the mistake of sharing with Bubba a superstitious saying. Bubba being a country boy and believing somewhat in superstition isn’t taking any chances. This individual told Bubba that if you have a dream and tell it to someone before having breakfast that dream will come true. Now when Bubbette tells him to shut-up and go back to sleep, he gets on the phone to his friends to tell them of fishing the Bassmasters or making an American Express commercial.

So, if you meet Bubba, don’t give him your telephone number.

The Lake Fork Sportsman’s Association would like to thank the many volunteers who endured extreme weather conditions to insure that fish were properly weighed and recorded. We also want to thank the landowners, The Sabine River Authority, Keith Gilbreath, Jim Cotton and Mark Coker who allowed anglers to fish from their property., the Wood County Industrial Commission, Emory EDC, Rains Tourism, BTH Bank, CNB Bank and Lake Fork Chamber of Commerce. We appreciate their support in making this event a success. Oak Ridge Marina, tournament host, provided anglers with the type of service that makes them want to come back to East Texas, thanks Barry and Tracy for a job well done. Lastly, we want to thank our social committee and Allan’s Hitchin Post for hosting the pretournament social. A dinner of the finest East Texas Chicken Fried Steak was served to anglers, volunteers, sponsors and landowners.

wouldn’t go away. The day of the tournament, the water temperatures were 62 degrees, so we focused on catching fish in 8 to 10 feet of water.”

Throwing a Flash Pop that was similar to a small Alabama rig with a secret swimbait attached, Franklin caught a fish below the slot limit and cashed an hourly check early in the tournament.

“Once we cashed that first check, I said, ‘Well now I’m going to catch an over,’” Franklin said. “My lure wasn’t 5 feet from the boat when she hit. I set the hook and thought this is a big fish. She went under the boat and I thought I might lose her, but we got her in the net, made sure she was long enough and I knew we might have caught the big fish of the tournament.” I said, “We need to go to the

April is set for multiple patterns

By David Ozio

“It has been long awaited but April is finally here. We all have endured some strange weather over the past couple of months on Lake Fork and it’s about time the giants come out to play. Recent rains have stained the water over most of the lake but, as of this writing, I expect the lake to start to clear and trophy bass to move shallow where everyone can have a true shot at a “once in a lifetime” wall hanger. The lake is only three foot low at this point and main lake water temps are inching upward toward 60 degrees. This bodes well for a shallow water extravaganza.

My sites are set for multiple patterns to evolve through April, one of which involves chunking huge swimbaits. This calls for some clear water and I think this watershed should start to stabilize as we head into the early stages of the month. The next order of business will be ordering in some wind. Something on the lines of 10-15mph would be perfect but I will take what I can get. Plankton will get pushed up on main lake points, shad will follow as well as the green beasts searching for food. White or shad colored baits will work and don’t be afraid to use a chartreuse/blue back if the water is off colored. The A-rig should also be front and center during the first two weeks of the month and the same color schemes apply. Focus these baits into the two to five foot water column and use heavy line on your reels for this application.

The next choice of champions will be the Carolina rig. I would focus on main lake points as well as the first secondary point heading into the coves and creeks. It’s hard to beat a lizard at this time of the year and the baby brush hog will take home its share of the bacon. No need to get crazy with the rains have stained the water over most of the lake and the same color schemes apply. Focus these baits into the two to five foot water column and wait for the rod to load up.

My next choice in the multiple pattern mad house would be the squarebill. Fish this hawg catcher in the same places that you would throw the swimbaits. The only difference will be the target depth. Swimbaits will be presented more to the shallow side where the squarebills will be launched into the four to seven foot corridor. To clear and trophy bass to move shallow where something on the lines of 10-18mph would be waiting for the rod to load up. Make your casts into the four to ten foot range and wait for the wind. Something on the lines of 10-15mph would be perfect but I will take what I can get. Plankton will get pushed up on main lake points, shad will follow as well as the green beasts searching for food. Franklin was fishing midlake, so he had a good run back to the weigh-in spot.
“Tough year,” he said.

Once the fish was weighed in about 12:45, it was a waiting game for Franklin.

“I was pacing a lot,” he said. “All of these people started weighing in ours and I was thinking, where are these fish coming from?
There were six in the last hour.”

Once he had beaten out
all comers, Franklin got emotional after a tough year.

“When our son was

was diagnosed with a rare heart defect,” Franklin said. “We had to fly him to Cincinnati

it was real tough not knowing if your son was going to make it.

Coming from that, I still can’t believe I won the biggest one-day

Best Selection of Tackle on Lake Fork!
It’s been a long time coming but finally the first wave of crappie have committed to going shallow! I didn’t think winter was ever going away (and I’m still not sure if it’s done for good!) It’s been the craziest year of weather and fishing I’ve ever seen! But so “thankful” to have the lake levels back up and not having the water pumped to Dallas! It’s just my opinion but Lake Fork fish have never liked any current – and when they were pulling 1 – 2 inches a day, there was definitely current and it sure affected the fishing.

Now that things are stabilizing, water levels and water temperatures are finally where they need to be for some “awesome” fishing! There is nothing more fun than “Bobber Fishing” this time of year! After about a week of seeing that bobber go under, I start seeing it go under in my sleep and wake myself up setting the hook!! The added bonus of this time of year is you never know what you might catch – a giant bass, a monster catfish or a big bream. It’s all possible and so much fun on my Shimano ultralights!

We are rigging slip bobbers with 1/8 oz. jig heads with Bobby Garland’s “natural shad” or “electric chicken” and working it along shorelines and timber in 1 to 8 ft. depths. The females are staging out a little deeper but will move in around the next full moon “big time”! April is going to be an incredible month for ALL species!

It’s such a relief to start seeing some really quality crappie and bass being caught after such a tough long winter. By the way it’s a good idea to take some minnows along for when the fish aren’t as aggressive. I’m looking forward to this years spawn and so glad my mom and dad are able to be here to get in on the excitement! It’s always great to get to spend time fishing with your family!!!

I want to send a HUGE “Thank You” to James, Jody and Darrell at “Popes Landing” for finding room for me to park my boat during our extreme low lake levels during this past winter. They are definitely examples of “Angels Among Us”!! Many Thanks!!

Also I want to send my appreciation to Ken and Dana at Lake Fork Marina for having a slip available for me for all these years! It’s so great to see the water around the docks!

Many Blessings to you all!

The Toyota Texas Bass Classic (TTBC) has announced the concert lineup for the 2015 event, returning to Lake Fork on Memorial Day weekend, May 23 – 25, 2015 at the Sabine River Authority in Quitman, Texas. Concerts will be headlined by Billy Currington on Saturday, May 23; Lee Brice on Sunday, May 24 and Rodney Atkins and Joe Nichols finishing out the weekend on Monday, May 25.

“It is an exciting musical lineup this year,” said Lenny Francoeur, Tournament Director. “Combining country music’s biggest stars, the best bass anglers in the world, large outdoor expos and countless fan friendly activities; the ninth year of TTBC promises to be one of the most exciting yet.”

Tickets went on sale Wednesday, March 11, 2015 and will be available online at www.ToyotaTexas-BassClassic.com or at your local Toyota dealerships, Academy Sports + Outdoors, Brookshire’s Grocery Stores and Kim’s Convenient Stores throughout East Texas.

Georgia native, Billy Currington, will open the three-day outdoor music festival. Currington won the Hottest Video of the Year honor at the CMT Music Awards for “Must Be Doin’ Somethin’ Right” in 2006 which was the same year he received an ACM acknowledgement for Top New Male Vocalist. Currington’s “Party For Two” earned CMA and ACM nominations, while his No. 1 hit “People Are Crazy” earned Grammy nominations for Male County Vocal Performance and Best Country Song. The same song also earned nominations for Single and Song of the Year from the Academy of Country Music and Single, Song and Video of the Year from the Country Music Association.

Former Clemson lineman, Lee Brice, recently released his third album, I Don’t Dance. Brice won the ACM Award for Song of the Year and the Single of the Year: Breakthrough Artist at the American Country Awards for “I Drive Your Truck.” Brice has received numerous nominations from the Academy of Country Music Awards including Male Vocalist of the Year, Song of the Year, and Video of the Year.

Rodney Atkins is an award-winning country music singer/songwriter whose six chart-topping hits include “Take A Back Road,” “It’s America,” “Cleaning This Gun (Come On In Boy),” “These Are My People,” “Watching You” and “If You’re Going Through Hell (Before the Devil Even Knows).” His new single, “Eat Sleep Love” (See TTBC Musical Lineup..Continued on Page 13-A)

Purchase Tickets to the Ninth Annual Toyota Classic

Tickets to the ninth annual Toyota Texas Bass Classic (TTBC) are now available for purchase. The event will be held Memorial Day weekend, May 23 – 25, 2015 at the Sabine River Authority in Quitman, Texas.

Single day general admission tickets are $8 in advance (online) and $15 at the door, Saturday through Monday of the tournament weekend. Three-day general admission passes are available at Brookshire’s Grocery Stores, Kim’s Convenience Stores and Academy Sports & Outdoors throughout East Texas for $15. Children ages 15 and under will be given free admission when accompanied by a ticketed adult. In honor of Memorial Day weekend, military members and their families will be given free admission all weekend.

New to the tournament this year are two upgraded daily VIP ticketing options, Stage Pit and Lunker Club tickets. Both are only available in limited quantities. Daily Stage Pit tickets are $30 and include general admission, a TTBC concession meal voucher and exclusive access to the pit area in front of the stage during the headline concert. Daily Lunker Club tickets are $75 and include general admission, access to a climate-con.
Many Lake Fork anglers have noticed an increased presence of Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) Inland Fisheries staff around the lake recently. This surge of activity is primarily related to a year-long economic study of fishing at the reservoir funded by TPWD and administered by Dr. Kevin Hunt, Human Dimensions Professor at Mississippi State University. A similar study was conducted exactly 20 years ago, in 1994 and 1995, by Dr. Hunt while stationed at Texas A&M University. Just like during the survey 20 years prior, TPWD staff has been visiting Lake Fork to collect names and addresses for the survey. Angler contact information will be collected for the survey until the end of May 2015. Results will be used to help local businesses and economic development groups decide the best way to make improvements to the resources available at Lake Fork and in surrounding communities.

In addition to estimating how much money anglers spend for a typical fishing trip to Lake Fork, the survey also asks questions to learn about angler’s opinions and attitudes. Answers and comments from the original 1994-95 survey were used to support modifications of fishing regulations at Lake Fork in subsequent years. The current study will provide biologists and economists a unique understanding of how fishing and angler opinions may have changed during the 20 years since the original study.

In addition to the economic study, TPWD Inland Fisheries personnel have been working on multiple fish habitat improvement projects at Lake Fork. Anyone familiar with Lake Fork knows that fish habitat has been a major reason the reservoir has been such an incredible bass fishery for the past 35 years. The unique formula comprised of nutrient-rich water, submerged timber, aquatic vegetation, and a healthy dose of Florida largemouth bass genetics have come together to create one of the premier bass fishing destinations in the world. However, even though the reservoir still maintains an abundant supply of submerged timber and prime habitat, anglers who have been fishing Lake Fork for many years also know that the submerged timber isn’t what it was 20 years ago. Combine that with drought, and an ever-increasing human population and increased water demands; the resulting water level fluctuations have made it difficult to maintain an abundance of aquatic vegetation.

Despite this unfortunate dose of reality, it has been made clear through fish habitat improvement projects around the country that fishing quality doesn’t have to slowly recede along with the timber and water level. Perhaps one of the biggest scale and best examples of this is the Lake Havasu Fisheries Improvement Program started in 1992 at the Arizona reservoir (http://www.azgfd.gov/pdfs/w_c/fishing_millions.pdf). Lake Havasu, constructed in the late 1930’s, experienced decades of gradual decline in fish habitat and fishing quality before fisheries managers, local angling groups, and governments decided something needed to be done to restore quality fish habitat and fishing to the reservoir. That ongoing initiative has resulted in acres of quality natural and artificial fish habitat throughout the reservoir. As a result, biologists have observed tremendous improvements in fish populations of all species, and fishing quality has rocketed to the point of record setting tournament results at Lake Havasu.

Habitat improvement initiatives at Lake Fork have been made possible through multiple partnerships with the Lake Fork Sportsman’s Association (LFS), Friends of Reservoirs, Yantis ISD, and local fishing clubs. Ongoing habitat improvement projects have been conducted at Lake Fork for several years now; and, some additional projects are being conducted this year.

TPWD fisheries staff and LFS members initially began to plant a native wetland shrub called buttonbush (buckbrush) along the shores of Lake Fork in March 2011. Initial trials involved planting bare-root plants along exposed shorelines. Since survival of potted plants is higher, TPWD and LFS decided in November of that year to pool their resources and purchase 400 potted plants. In late 2012, LFS started to work cooperatively with staff and students at Yantis High School on a project to grow out their own buttonbush from bare-root plants. In November 2014, volunteers from LFS, TPWD, and Yantis High School cooperated to plant over 500 potted plants that were raised in the greenhouse at the high school.

On March 23, 2015, TPWD staff planted a further 498 plants that were purchased using restitution funds made available through TPWD’s Kills and Spills Team (KAST). This fall another crop of plants from the high school will hopefully be ready for planting.

Buttonbush is a small wetland shrub that grows up to about 12 feet high, and will live in water up to about four feet deep. The shrubs will naturally sprout from seeds when water levels are low, and then continue to grow in shallow water when water levels increase, creating excellent habitat for fish and other aquatic organisms. Buttonbush has become a common species along the shoreline of many older reservoirs in Texas with greater water level fluctuations, where the shrubs have had time to sprout before water levels return to normal (usually in the spring). Older lakes like Toledo Bend and Sam Rayburn have extensive naturally occurring stands of buttonbush, which most anglers enjoy fishing around when water levels are high and the small trees’ branches are flooded. The goal at Lake Fork has been to artificially speed up this natural phenomenon, by raising and planting small trees in three to four feet of water throughout the reservoir.

TPWD also started experimenting with the emergent aquatic plant waterwillow in 2012 and plans are in place to expand the project with additional species in 2015. These species include both emergent and submerged aquatic species which will hopefully add to the diversity of aquatic plants already found in the lake. It often takes decades to naturally establish abundant and diverse seed banks of aquatic plants in a reservoir, so this is a step biologists can take to speed up this process and increase the number of species in the lake that provide fish habitat.

Along with the ongoing planting projects, TPWD and the LFS have partnered to develop and construct several “fish attractor” sites in Lake Fork. They are constructing artificial habitat from PVC, brush, and bamboo and placing these structures in predetermined locations around the lake. The approximate coordinates are published on the TPWD website along with fish attractors at other Texas Reservoirs at http://tpwd.texas.gov/fishboat/fish/recreational/lakes/fish_attractors.php. In addition to adding habitat for fish, the attractors also provide an easy option for anglers to locate somewhere to fish if they don’t have an extensive list of “honey holes”. Many anglers travel long distances to fish Lake Fork and may be unfamiliar with the lake, so these sites may provide a good starting location to find fish.

The number of fish attractor and habitat improvement sites will continue to increase and improve at Lake Fork. The Toyota Texas Bass Classic (TTBC) is looking for volunteers to help support the Texas-sized outdoor music festival and world championship fishing event. The 9th annual TTBC is returning to Lake Fork Memorial Day Weekend, May 23-25, 2015. The event will host the world’s greatest anglers as well as chart topping country music performances. This is a perfect opportunity for fishing enthusiasts or those looking to make some great Memorial Day weekend memories to come out and assist with this action-packed event.

Along with the memories, volunteers will receive exclusive tournament gear; including an official TTBC t-shirt and hat, a lunch volunteer badge (serves as general admission Saturday, Sunday & Monday) and a parking pass. Below you will find a list and brief description of the Toyota Texas Bass Classic Volunteer Committees.

ADMISSIONS/WILL CALL: Admissions volunteers will be responsible for staffing the admissions gate and assisting security to ensure that all spectators have the proper tickets for entry. Will Call volunteers will be responsible for staffing a ticket booth at the event entrance for ticket buyers to pick up previously purchased tickets.

MEDIA / PR: Assist Tournament staff with the general operations of the Media Center and promotion of the Tournament, assist with sponsor requests and angler appearances.

TOURNAMENT OFFICE: Assists Tournament Staff with answering the phones, greeting visitors, receiving and logging deliveries along with other administrative duties as requested by Tournament Staff.

TPWD OUTDOOR ADVENTURES AREA: Assist the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department (TPWD) with various activities in the TP&W Outdoor Adventures Area.

VOLUNTEER SERVICES: Responsible for staffing the volunteer headquarters, handling uniform distribution and maintaining a comfortable working environment for the volunteers.

“With an event of this size, we rely heavily on the support of our volunteers in order to create a seamless event for all to enjoy. Whether you’re a fishing enthusiast or simply looking to get involved in a major community event, there is a volunteer committee for you,” said Lenny Francoeur, Tournament Director of the Toyota Texas Bass Classic. “Volunteering also provides an excellent opportunity to join in on the support of the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department.”

About the Tournament: The Toyota Texas Bass Classic is a world-class bass fishing tournament, featuring the top 35 bass anglers in the world, along with a festival to include exceptional entertainment and a variety of family and industry activities. Be a Part of a Texas Law Enforcement Legend

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is building its next generation of elite state law enforcement officers with application to the 60th Texas Game Warden Cadet class now open through April 30.

“We are excited for the opportunity to welcome and train the next generation of Texas game wardens, and we encourage everyone who is interested to apply,” says Colonel Craig Hunter, TPWD Law Enforcement Director. “Since 1895, Texas game wardens have protected the people of Texas through profession- al law enforcement services that include land, water and air patrols; search and rescue; and tactical operations, all while working to conserve and protect the natural resources of our state.”

Applicants must be 21 years old prior to entering the academy in January 2016. A bachelor’s degree from an accredited college or university prior to Sept. 1, 2015 is required. Applicants must also meet additional minimum eligibility requirements, including a preliminary interview, background investigation and physical skills tests focusing on agility and swimming. Persons who are interested in strengthening their swimming skills or who would like to learn to swim prior to the swim test are encouraged to contact the American Red Cross at http://www.redcross.org/take-a-class/program-highlights/swimming.

All cadets are required to live at the Game Warden Training Center near Hamilton, Texas, for the duration of the 30-week training period. After graduation, new game wardens will be assigned to vacant stations throughout Texas with the responsibility of protecting the state’s natural resources. Game wardens also protect lives by enforcing the Water Safety Act and conducting standard peace officer duties.

Candidates can apply online at www.tpwd.texas.gov/jobs and reference posting #15-00478. Applications are due April 30.

For additional information, check the website at www.tpwd.texas.gov/warden/ or contact Texas game warden recruiters, Lieutenant Kevin Malonson at kevin.malonson@tpwd.texas.gov and game warden Eric Howard at eric.howard@tpwd.texas.gov or call (877) 229-2733.

“Pack of Knowledge” “The Finesse Approach for Pressured Fish”
By Andrew Grills

Spring is officially here and so are the fishermen! This is the time of year that the bass are most heavily pressured. I wouldn’t expect to catch many fish if I were fishing behind several other boats using the same techniques they were using. Out here on Lake Fork in the spring we have no choice but to share water, therefore changing our tactics is often critical for success.

“Finesse fishing” is not one of my favorite terms in the angler’s dictionary, however this approach can produce some quality fish when not much else will. When the fishing gets tough, shaky heads, drop shots, and wacky rigged worms can save the day.

When I downsize on Lake Fork, I’m talking about stepping from heavy tackle to what might be considered medium-heavy tackle. On most lakes, if one were to take a finesse approach, they might use line as light as 8 or 10 pound test. But, here 15 pound test is about as low as I will go. There are just too many obstacles in our lake and too many big fish too take a chance on losing them in heavy cover. 15 pound fluorocarbon covers most finesse applications for me.

In my opinion, the most important thing to keep in mind with a finesse approach is to slow down. As a guide, I have to remind most of my customers to slow down on a regular basis. I believe fishing too fast is the most common mistake we make in most cases. I tell my customers to fish so slow you can count each root at the base of a stump. Working the bait with your rod tip, with occasional pauses, as the worm inches along the bottom is hard for a bass to resist.

Also important, is not to overwork the bait. I find the less movement the better with finesse applications. Keep in mind that each pebble, shell, or root that worm touches will give it some movement. I believe this looks much more natural to a fish than a gyrating piece of plastic. Often, I will find myself letting the bait sit totally motionless for several seconds at a time. Of course there are other methods that might work for other anglers, however fishing slow and giving the bait very little action has worked well for me.

Finesse techniques shine under calm conditions. Usually a day or two after a cold front when the wind lays down means tough fishing. This is a good time to consider finesse. If the wind is blowing it can be difficult to effectively finesse fish, and finesse fishing may not be necessary as fish are often more active when there is some wind.

When opting for a finesse approach you are definitely going to catch some smaller fish than with many other applications, but that doesn’t mean you can’t catch some quality fish as well. The biggest fish I’ve ever seen on the end of a customer’s line was hooked on a shaky head under very tough conditions.

Next time you’re out on the water and you see several boats ahead of you throwing big plastics, jigs, and spinnerbaits, consider downsizing, slowing down, and taking a finesse approach. It just might turn a bad day of fishing into a great one.

One New Positive Found in 2014-15 Trans Pecos CWD Surveillance

Chronic wasting disease (CWD) was detected in only one of 222 tissue samples that were collected from hunter harvested deer and elk from the Trans Pecos ecoregion during the 2014-15 season as part of a CWD surveillance effort. This sample was collected from a mule deer buck harvested in the Hueco Mountain area of far West Texas. “Without the hunter check stations and the strong cooperation of hunters and landowners, we would know very little about the prevalence of the disease or where it exists,” said Mitch Lockwood, Big Game Program Director with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Also included in the sampling effort last season, 143 deer and elk brought to check stations were tested for bovine tuberculosis as part of a cooperative effort between TPWD and Texas Animal Health Commission to monitor for bovine tuberculosis. No positives were found.

To date, 839 deer and elk have been tested through the CWD check stations and strategic sampling that occurred during the summer of 2012; 282 were in the Containment Zone, 205 were in the adjacent High Risk Zone, 117 were in the Buffer Zone, and 235 were outside of the CWD zones. The disease has been detected in only 7 animals, all within the Hueco Mountain area, indicating a disease prevalence of 10-15 percent within that population.

“Additional sampling is necessary to develop more confidence in the geographic extent and prevalence of the disease, but the fact that CWD has not been detected in Texas outside of the Hueco Mountain area of northern El Paso and Hudspeth counties is encouraging,” said Lockwood.

CWD is a member of the group of diseases called transmissible spongiform encephalopathies (TSEs). Other diseases in this group include scrapie in sheep, bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE or mad cow disease) in cattle, and Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease in humans. CWD among cervids is a progressive, fatal disease that commonly results in altered behavior as a result of microscopic changes made to the brain of affected animals. An animal may carry the disease for years without outward indication, but in the latter stages, signs may include listlessness, lowering of the head, weight loss, repetitive walking in set patterns, and a lack of responsiveness. CWD is not known to affect humans or livestock. There is no vaccine or cure for CWD, but steps have been taken to minimize the risk of the disease spreading from beyond the area where it currently exists. The Texas Parks and Wildlife and Texas Animal Health commissions adopted rules to restrict movement of deer, elk, and other susceptible species within or from the CWD Zones as well increase surveillance efforts.
April is set for multiple patterns

Another famous pattern will be bed fish. They should start to show up in mass around the full moon. There are several ways to attack these fish starting with a simple fluke cast randomly to the bank. Always dye the tail chartreuse as the perch naturally have the same trademark. Twitch-twitch pause and wait for the line to jump. A wacky worm also works well for this pattern and bags fish of all sizes. Last but not least is twitching this tough fish catching time and slow rolling it is the key. Double willow leaves will get the job done and skirt colors should favor shad or bream patterns.

If you are headed out to Lake Fork in April searching for the trophy of a lifetime, I would love to be a part of this trophy quest. I still have a couple of dates open in April and some in May. I also have gift certificates available if you have friends or loved one’s who have dreamt of landing a huge bass. You can contact me at 409 782-4269 or e-mail me at skeeter21c@aol.com. You can follow me on Facebook at https://www.facebook.com/LakeForkGuideDavidOzio. I post my daily trip results on this page. I run a Skeeter FX21 with a Ya-maha 250SHO and would like to thank Skeeter for making my office on the lake the best in the country. I would also like to thank G-Loomis, Shimano, Talon Lures and Lowrance for making my job the blast that it is. A special shout out to H&W Marine in Tyler for all their help in keeping me on the water seven days a week, no issues. I hope to see a lot of you on the water. Game Warden Field Notes

The following items are compiled from recent Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement reports.

--Takes Two to Tango-- A Grimes County game warden noticed two vehicles parked along the side of the road. As the warden approached, he saw the occupants engaged in what he believed to be a hand-to-hand drug transaction. The warden followed the vehicles and requested assistance from the Grimes County Sheriff’s Department. The warden and a sheriff’s deputy stopped both cars, and a subsequent search yielded a total of 28 grams of methamphetamine and a stolen pistol. The occupants of the vehicles were placed under arrest. Numerous charges pending.

--That's What Friends Are For-- An anonymous tip was given to a Grimes County game warden regarding a group of individuals who placed a photo of two illegally taken deer on a social media site. The warden followed up on the lead and eventually tracked down one of the individuals involved. After a short interview, the warden secured a statement from the individual who shot the two deer and also received the names of the other people in the vehicle. The warden was able to recover meat from the two deer and the firearms used in the offense. He was also able to get statements from four other individuals involved. Numerous charges pending.

--Deerly Beloved-- A Karnes County game warden entered a camp to check reports of possible illegal deer being shot. As he approached, he saw a buck hanging from a tree and two antlerless deer in the bed of a truck. A female had harvested the buck, and her husband had taken the two antlerless deer. All deer were not tagged, and neither the ranch nor hunter had permits for the two antlerless deer. The warden seized all three deer. Cases pending.

--In the Spotlight-- A Real County resident called the local game warden to report hunters who were riding around in a pasture and shining a spotlight into homes of the neighboring subdivision. When the warden arrived on scene and made contact with four individuals, he found three whitetail doe in the bed of the truck. When asked if the deer had been shot after legal hunting hours, all individuals stated that the deer were shot around 5 p.m. The warden confirmed with the caller that no shots were heard after legal hunting hours. When asked why they were shining a spotlight into people’s homes, all four said that they were looking for a wounded deer. The warden then asked why the gutted deer hadn’t been tagged, to which both subjects replied that they didn’t have time or something to tag them with. Both subjects were cited for possession of untagged whitetail deer. Cases pending.
