Summer temperatures in the mid- to high nineties, coupled with humidity, can be tough during the day especially on windless days. Daytime bassing can be very rewarding during July. Prepare for the heat because the bite will start around midday to late afternoon. On most days the early bite is tough, but during the midday shad will start moving on most deep water humps, ridges and road beds fifteen to twenty-five tops falling off to thirty to fifty foot shelf are key areas. When you find bait-fish on the shallow side, ball will not be far behind. For lures, swim baits in shad pattern and Carolina-rigged or drop-shotting with methylate color worms or chartreuse rig fry are hard to beat.

For those of you who cannot stand the daytime heat, nighttime temps in the seventy to eighty range. This is when the most action can be had. The lighter areas also act as attractants for insect which in turn attract bait-fish which in turn attract bass. During half-moon to full-moon when the nights start getting bright, the dream bass is at its best. During darker moon phases, boathouses, lighted piers, marina areas offer some of the best nighttime bass action. The dog days of summer are upon us with daytime temperatures in the mid-nineties to low hundreds and nighttime temps in the seventy to eighty range. This can be tough during the day especially on windless days. Day time bassing can be very rewarding during July. Prepare for the heat because the bite will start around midday to late afternoon. On most days the early bite is tough, but during the midday shad will start moving on most deep water humps, ridges and road beds fifteen to twenty-five tops falling off to thirty to fifty foot shelf are key areas. When you find bait-fish on the shallow side, ball will not be far behind. For lures, swim baits in shad pattern and Carolina-rigged or drop-shotting with methylate color worms or chartreuse rig fry are hard to beat.

For those of you who cannot stand the daytime heat, you are in luck because Fork’s night bite for that dream bass is at its best around midnight until day break. The most important factor contributing to the success of nighttime fishing is water clarity. Areas that are not clear generally offer poor night fishing. Some of the best night fishing is when there is a lot of daytime boat activity. On high traffic lakes during the day bass hold in deeper water, but at night they move up to shallow structure to feed.

During darker moon phases, boathouses, lighted piers, marina areas offer some of the best nighttime bass action. The lighter areas also act as attractants for insect which in turn attract bait-fish which in turn attract bass. During half-moon to full-moon when the nights start getting bright... er, look for shallow areas that have ample vegetation or brush. These will be better than open areas. Bass seem to concentrate in some of the same areas during the night as they do during the day.

Look for main lake areas that have a lot of grassy or rock and brush points. These are especially good. These spots are even better if they are near deep water. Weather can play an important role in your night fishing success. Some of the better nights will occur after still, hot sunny days. Likewise, some of the poorest nights will occur after cool, cloudy, windy and/or rainy days. A thunderstorm during the night is a sure turnoff even though the weather will be nice afterwards. However the following morning will be good fishing. Night time high winds can also result in poor night bite, especially if the water has become turbid as a result of the wind. The period just prior to the wind on in its initial stage can be rewarding.

Game Warden Field Notes

The following items are compiled from recent Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement reports.

--The Brady Bust-- A McCulloch County game warden was patrolling a county road when a truck towing another truck on a flatbed trailer approached from the opposite direction. The warden met the approaching vehicle side-by-side in the middle of the road and began a casual conversation with the driver. The driver said that he and his buddy had met up in Brady to sell a truck at the scrapyard, but the scrapyard had not taken the truck due to some missing paperwork, so the guys decided to drive around and visit for a while before parting ways. Having been called out many times before to this specific county road for suspected road hunting violations, the warden asked if there were any guns in the truck. The driver revealed a loaded rifle tucked between the seat and the console. Further questioning and a driver’s license check indicated that the driver had a suspended license and a felony conviction. A deputy was called in for assistance on a vehicle search, which turned up .6 grams of methamphetamines, drug paraphernalia and open containers of alcohol. The driver was arrested for unlawful possession of a firearm, possession of a controlled substance and driving with a suspended license.

--Up to No(se) Good-- A Travis County game warden and K-9 partner, Ruger, were requested by the Jonestown Police Department and the Travis County Sheriff’s Office for a canine sniff search of a vehicle. The vehicle had been stopped for a traffic violation and was deemed stolen. Ruger alerted and indicated to the presence of controlled substances. While searching the vehicle, officers found about 1 gram of methamphetamines, a glass meth pipe, a scale with residue, potential stolen phones and SIM cards, birth certificates and documents with other individuals’ social security numbers. Charges were filed for possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of controlled substance and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Further investigation of the potential stolen phones, SIM cards and sensitive documents is ongoing. Cases pending.

--Well-Hidden-- The Delta County Sheriff’s Office requested assistance from their game warden after burglary suspects fled from a deputy. The deputy was unable to continue pursuit of the suspects due to the condition of the road, but the warden was able to locate the suspects’ vehicle, which had become stuck in the mud. With the assistance of a Department of Public Safety helicopter and a Texas Department of Corrections K-9 team, the subjects were found clinging to the inside of an abandoned well. The well was covered by a cedar tree and appeared to be about 20 feet deep. A large amount of methamphetamines was also located a few yards from the vehicle.

--Poachers See, Poachers Do-- A Harris County game warden responded to an Operation Game Thief tip about a man seen walking around with a rifle in the Addicks Reservoir. When the warden arrived, he spotted a vehicle and tracked footprints that led inside the reservoir. After waiting in the brush alongside a nearby path, the warden heard a shot fired in the distance. Nearly 40 minutes later, the subject came down the path and was subsequently apprehended. After the warden spent some time questioning and investigating, two of the man’s friends also poaching in the reservoir, turned themselves in without incident. Cases pending.

--Five of a Kind-- While a Starr County game warden was on patrol, he came across an open gate leading to a ranch and decided to investigate. Upon entering the ranch, the warden spotted two vehicles and five people dressed in camouflage, standing around a hunting blind. At first the individuals said they were working on the ranch, but, after some questioning, admitted they were hunting. The warden followed the hunters down to where one of the hunters had shot an eight-point buck and helped the hunter load the deer. After further inspection, however, it was found that the hunter had marked the deer with a tag that expired in 2012 and also did not have a valid hunting license. The buck was seized and the meat was donated to a local family, Cases and civil restitution pending.

--Poacher Scissorhands-- A Webb County game warden was patrolling a county road when a truck towing another truck on a flatbed trailer approached from the opposite direction. Having been called out many times before to this specific county road for suspected road hunting violations, the warden asked if there were any guns in the truck. The driver revealed a loaded rifle tucked between the seat and the console. Further questioning and a driver’s license check indicated that the driver had a suspended license and a felony conviction. A deputy was called in for assistance on a vehicle search, which turned up .6 grams of methamphetamines, drug paraphernalia and open containers of alcohol. The driver was arrested for unlawful possession of a firearm, possession of a controlled substance and driving with a suspended license.

The warden received a call from a landowner who believed someone poached a deer on his ranch. The warden arrived at the ranch and began to investigate the area. There, he found evidence of a deer being shot, a fence being cut and a deer dragged under the fence. The warden then went to the adjacent property to see if anyone was at the deer camp and to begin looking for evidence. There was no contact made at the camp, but the warden saw evidence of a deer that was recently processed at the cleaning station. The material used to repair the cut fence was also at the camp. After investigating further and talking to landowners plus the hunters leasing the property, one of the men said he had shot the deer on the neighboring property and cut the fence to retrieve the dead deer. Multiple cases pending.

--A Perfect Match--
One evening, a La Salle County game warden set up on a back road near Los Angeles, Texas, where poaching activity was known to take place. Around 8:30 p.m. a slow moving truck made its way past the warden while shining a bright light. After following the vehicle for a short distance, the warden initiated a traffic stop. The two people in the car had a loaded rifle lying across their laps. A set of fresh deer antlers was also discovered in the bed of the truck. The two occupants were taken to jail for several Class A violations. A few days later, a deer carcass was discovered on a nearby ranch. The deer antlers from the truck bed matched perfectly. It was also discovered that one subject was a convicted felon. Felony charges are pending.

--Three Strikes, You’re Out--
When a frustrated rancher in La Salle County discovered his neighbor trespassing on his ranch, for the third time, he decided he needed to call the local game warden. Unlike the previous two times he had trespassed, this time the neighbor notified the rancher of his intent to enter the property. The warden noticed that the neighbor had crossed the fence the previous evening while hog hunting and shot a hog. The hog was too heavy to drag back, so it was left behind. The neighbor thought he could make it right if he called and told the rancher about what he had done. Charges pending.

--Man Overboard--
Two Calhoun County game wardens spotted a skiff oystering in closed waters. As the wardens moved in, one of the occupants threw the oyster dredge overboard, along with himself. When the warden was able to get the man back in the boat, both subjects were arrested. Multiple charges pending.

--No Parking on the Grass--
A Dallas County game warden patrolling Lake Ray Hubbard near Barnes Bridge Park noticed the vehicle barrier that prevents access to the shoreline was pushed down and a vehicle was parked nearby. The warden saw a man and a woman who appeared to be sleeping inside the vehicle. The warden knocked on the window, identified himself and told them they had to move. The passenger opened her window and the warden could smell marijuana coming from inside. Asked if they had any illegal drugs, the passenger handed the warden a container of marijuana. The warden instructed the couple to stay put while he returned to his patrol truck to run a check on their IDs. On his way, the warden came across three individuals walking up from the shoreline and again smelled marijuana. The warden conducted a search that produced a small amount of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

--A Big Stash of Pot--
A Starr County game warden patrolling for wildlife enforcement heard a Department of Public Safety call on the radio that Border Patrol had intel on marijuana bundles crossing the river close to his location. The warden and DPS assisted Border Patrol in apprehending two individuals at a stash house, along with multiple bundles of marijuana. More than 2,900 pounds of marijuana were seized and the individuals were turned over to Border Patrol.

Spices Add Spark to Traditional Barbecue

By Sue Hampton

With warm weather, flags waving and “bombs bursting in air,” July ushers in the peak of barbecue season across America. Families from coast to coast are stoking the grill and serving up batches of backyard barbecue with all the trimmings – a really tasty “Avocado Caprese Salad, watermelon, fresh lemonade and of course, ribs.

This season, serve ’em up with extra flair with these easy recipes.

Ginger-Soy Ribs
(Serves 6)
Baby back ribs – the smallest ribs from the pork back rib section – are good as finger food because they are more tender, don’t become gummy-sticky and are small enough to be held in one hand. When purchasing, plan on 1-1/2 pounds of ribs per person for a main course 1/4-1/2 pound for an appetizer of baby backs.

¼ cup soy sauce
2 cups rice wine vinegar
½ cup hoisin sauce
¼ cup vegetable oil
4 teaspoons toasted sesame oil
1 to 2 teaspoons hot red pepper flakes
4 garlic cloves
¼ cup finely chopped fresh ginger
2 tablespoons sugar

6 to 9 pounds baby back ribs

Heat the grill or grease a large pan with nonstick spray.

In the bowl of the food processor, combine the soy sauce, vinegar, hoisin sauce, vegetable oil, sesame oil, pepper flakes, garlic, ginger and sugar. Process until well-blended. Place in a zip-type 1- to 2-gallon plastic bag. Add the ribs to the mixture and seal. Shake to thoroughly coat. Marinate 30 minutes to overnight.

Remove the ribs from the marinade and place on the prepared grill or in the baked pan. Pour the marinade into a small saucepan. Grill or broil the ribs, turning halfway through the cooking, until spotted with black and gold, done but slightly pink, 10 to 12 minutes. Arrange the ribs on a serving platter or tray. Bring the sauce to a boil, cook five minutes, and then pour over the ribs.

The ribs may be done in advance and reheated.

Avocado Caprese Salad
1 ripe, fresh avocado, halved, seeded, peeled and cut into ¼-inch slices
2 lemons, juiced
2 ripe tomatoes, each cut into ¼-inch slices
8 medium fresh basil leaves

3 Tbsp. capers, drained
1 (8-oz.) ball of fresh mozzarella cheese, cut into ¼-inch slices
¼ cup lemon-scented olive oil

1. Place avocado slices in shallow bowl and dress with lemon juice, making sure all slices are coated.
2. On individual salad plates, layer tomato slice, fresh basil leaf, mozzarella slice and avocado slice. Repeat with a second tomato slice, fresh basil leaf, mozzarella slice and avocado slice along-side. Drizzle with olive oil and sprinkle capers over all. Repeat process for each plate.
3. Season with sea salt and fresh ground black pepper, to taste.

Note: Large avocados are recommended for this recipe.

Add Fireworks to your holiday barbecues with delicately spiced “Ginger-Soy Ribs” and this delicious “Avocado Caprese Salad”.
