Game Warden Field Notes

The following items are compiled from recent Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement reports.

--Case Closed--Game wardens recently wrapped up a lengthy Crosby County investigation into a hunting without landowner consent case that had been reported to the Operation Game Thief (OGT) hotline. Wardens located and interviewed the three men involved in the incident, and obtained confessions. Two of the subjects were charged with criminal trespassing and the third was charged with criminal trespassing-criminal responsibility of another. One of the three men also admitted to having killed a white-tailed buck while trespassing; his second white-tailed buck of the season in Crosby County. Crosby County is only a one buck county, therefore, wardens also filed an exceeding the bag limit charge, as well as a harvest log violation, on the man. Cases and civil restitution are pending.

--You Can Run, but You Cannot Hide--A Tarrant County game warden was patrolling Eagle Mountain Lake by boat when he approached two bank fishermen in a small cove to check fishing licenses. After announcing his presence, the warden observed one suspect turned and walked back to his truck disregarding all verbal commands to stop. There was no place to bank the boat due to the steep bank, so the warden continued verbal commands for the suspect to come back to the boat. The suspect put his fishing pole and something else out of his pocket into his truck, then bent the front license plate upward so it could not be read. As the warden searched the bank for a place to tie up his boat, the suspect opened up his driver side door and reached all the way across the truck for something. The warden jumped off his boat and drew his weapon but instead of the suspect coming out of the truck, he jumped in and drove off. The warden was able to get a positive ID of the back license plate and several days later successfully executed an arrest warrant, but not before fighting off the suspect's dog with pepper spray followed by a short standoff at the front door. Charges include felony evading arrest, fishing without a fishing license, failure to allow inspection, failure to produce ID and driving while license is invalid.

--Ditched-- Game wardens had just finished patrolling the Brazos River and were headed to the boat barn to call it a night when they noticed a man standing alongside the roadway peering into the bar ditch. The wardens made a U-turn to check on his welfare. The man was standing beside a motorcycle that was laid over on its side in the ditch. The man adamantly denied he was involved in a wreck and had merely parked his motorcycle in the ditch, where it had fallen over after the kickstand failed. He claimed he crossed a median and two lanes of traffic to park it there and would like for the wardens to help him right his motorcycle. The wardens' keen investigative skills were not buffaloeed by the man's explanation of events and clear signs of intoxication. Field sobriety tests were given to the suspect and he was subsequently arrested for driving while intoxicated. Cases are pending.

--Remote Recovery-- On the evening of July 2, Val Verde County game wardens responded to a call for help on a medical emergency from canoers that were paddling the Devils River. The group of 12 paddlers were reporting a death of one of the group along a very remote section of the river. The wardens coordinated with State Parks personnel to get the County Sheriff's Evidence/Crime Scene Unit and the justice of the peace to the location. Due to the remote area of the incident, the coordination for extraction of the deceased, the 11 remaining paddlers, their equipment and canoes and transport of all personnel turned into a 12 hour operation. The 25-year-old victim had died of natural causes.

--Running from the Law-- Game wardens were checking bank fishermen in Delta County when they encountered a subject whom they had arrested recently on drug possession and weapons charges. During a pat down search of the subject, drug paraphernalia was found in his pants pocket. When the wardens attempted to arrest the subject, he violently resisted and assaulted both wardens. The wardens were able to subdue the suspect and take him into custody. However, while waiting for a transport unit from the Greenville Police Department to arrive, the subject fled on foot while handcuffed. Wardens gave chase and captured the subject, who was attempting to hide near a fence. Multiple felony charges were filed against the subject.

--Stuck in the Mud-- Harris County game wardens were patrolling an area for reported poaching activity. At dusk, they spotted a truck trespassing along a power line easement on county property. The truck attempted to drive away and the wardens split up and moved to intercept it at one of two exit points further ahead of the vehicle. After dark, the truck and its occupants were located near the easement stuck in the mud on a flood control levee. After discharging a 12 gauge shotgun in an effort to signal others, the suspects were detained. Subsequent interviews revealed the subjects were trespassing and hunting hogs on county property without landowner consent. A 12 gauge shotgun, ammunition and a flashlight were seized. Charges are pending.

Quesadillas – A No-Fuss Satisfying Snack

By Sue Hampton

Sampling different kinds of quesadillas is always fun in Mexican restaurants and surprisingly simple to do at home. These toasted tortilla fold-overs are speedy to put together and cook in minutes – perfect when you're looking for a no-fuss satisfying snack – and there's no limit to the fillings that can go inside. The following recipe is for easy to bake Chicken and Avocado Quesadillas, but you can make other varieties

It's easy to serve quesadillas on short notice because they're so simple to make and Hass avocados are easy to work with and add a burst of flavor to your dishes!

by substituting shrimp or pork for the chicken and add sliced tomatoes, sautéed onions, sliced olives and roasted red peppers.

Some ingredients are basic to a good quesadilla. Flour tortillas are essential, of course, and Hass avocados from Mexico have a creamy, rich flavor that enhances just about any quesadilla, plus a soft texture that helps hold the filling together. For immediate use, choose ripe avocados that yield to the touch and have turned dark green to black. Firm, medium-green avocados will ripen in a few days when stored at room temperature. Each Mexican avocado carries a sticker identifying its place of origin, and here's some good news for quesadilla makers: Luscious avocados from Mexico are available all year long.

Chicken And Avocado Quesadillas

2 tablespoons olive oil, divided

2 tablespoons lime juice

½ teaspoon ground cumin

2 cups cooked, diced chicken

1 fully ripened Mexican Hass avocado, halved, pitted, peeled and cut in 1-inch cubes

4 flour tortillas (7 to 8 inches each)

¼ cup shredded Jack or Pepper Jack cheese

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. In a medium bowl, combine 1 tablespoon of the oil, lime juice and cumin. Add chicken and avocado; toss gently. Lay tortillas on a baking sheet; brush both sides with the remaining 1 tablespoon oil. Spoon chicken and avocado mixture on one side of each tortilla, dividing evenly; top with cheese. Fold tortillas in half to cover filling. Bake until crisp, about 8 minutes. Serve with salsa.

For the ultimate grilling experience, try grilling Hass avocados right on your barbecue! You have to try this! It's delicious!

Instructions for Grilled Slices:

1. Cut avocado in half, seed, peel and slice.

2. Drizzle with fresh lime or lemon juice and brush lightly with olive oil.

3. Gently place slices on grill over hot coals for 2 minutes on each side.

4. Season with salt to taste.

For Grilled Half Shells:

1. Cut avocado in half and remove seed.

2. Drizzle with fresh lime or lemon juice and brush lightly with olive oil.

3. Gently place cut side down on grill over hot coals for 2-3 minutes.

4. Season with salt to taste.

5. Optional: Fill with fresh salsa.
