Bubba’s Love Poem To Bubbette

By Bubba B. Tuff

Collards is green,
My dogs name is Blue,
And I’m so Lucky
To have a sweet thang like you.

Yore hair is like Cornsilk,
A-Flapping in the breeze,
Softer than Blue’s,
And without all them fleas.

Yo’re move like the bass,
Which excite me in May.
You ain’t got scales,
But I luv you any way.

Yo’re as satisfy’n as okra,
Jist a-fry’n in the pan
Like a good roll of duct tape,
Yo’re fragrant as snuff,
Right out of the can.

Yo’ have some’a Yore teeth,
For which I am proud,
I hold my head high,
When we’re in a crowd.

On special occasions,
When you shave under yore arms,
Well, I’m in hawg heaven,
And awed by yore charms.

Still them fellars at work,
They all want to know,
What I did to deserve
Such a purdy, young doe.

Yo’re as cutie as a junebug,
A-buzzing overhead.
You ain’t mean like those far ants,
I found in my bed.

Cut from the best cloth
Like a plaid flannel shirt,
You build up my life,
More than a fresh load of dirt.

When you hold me real tight,
Like a padded gun-rack,
My life is complete,
Ain’t nuttin’ I lack.

Yo’re there fer yore man,
To patch up lifes troubles
And fix what you can.

Yo’re as satisfy’n as okra,
Jist a-fry’n in the pan
Like a good roll of duct tape,
Yo’re fragrant as snuff,
Right out of the can.

Yo’re the best thing
Since sliced bread,
I’m so lucky
to have a sweet thang like you.

Yore complextion is perfection,
Like new vinyl sidin’.
Despite all the years,
Yore age, it keeps hidin’.

Me’ n’ you’s like a moon pie,
With a RC cold drank,
We go together,
Like a skunk goes with stank.

Some men, they buy chocolate,
For Valentines day,
They git it at Wal-Mart,
It’s romantic that way.

Some men buy roses,
On that special day,
From the cooler at Brookshires,
That’s impressive, I say.

Some men buy fine diamonds,
From a flea market booth
Diamonds are forever,
They explain, suave and Couth.

But for this man, honey,
These won’t do.
Cause yo’re too special,
You sweet thang you.

I got you a gift,
Without taste nor odor,
More useful than diamonds……

IT’S A NEW TROLLING MOTOR!!!!
At the beginning of 2018, the Toyota ShareLunker program debuted a new year-long season for anglers to enter their 8 pound and larger bass for prizes, recognition, and to help the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department promote and enhance bass fishing in Texas. On Dec. 31, staff wrapped up the first year of the revamped program with a total of 380 anglers entering 486 “lunker” bass from 89 lakes across the state.

“2018 was a big year for the Toyota ShareLunker program,” said Kyle Brookshear, Toyota ShareLunker Program Coordinator. “Not only was it the first time we’ve had a year-long season since the program launched in 1986 - we also opened up the categories of entries to include bass 8 pounds or larger and launched a brand-new logo and look. We are excited to send off 2018 with such great participation and we hope to see even more anglers partner with us to help make bass fishing better in Texas in 2019.”

Anglers entered largemouth bass 8 pounds or larger into four categories in the Toyota ShareLunker program, including six “Legacy Class” bass 13 pounds or heavier that were entered during the spawning window Jan.1 through March 31 and loaned to TPWD for the selective breeding and stocking program. The total number of entries in other categories who provided citizen science data included: 5 “Lunker Legend” bass 13 pounds or heavier caught outside the Jan.1 through March 31 spawning window or not loaned for spawning, 107 “Lunker Elite” bass weighing 10 to 12.99 pounds, and 368 “Lunker” bass at least 24 inches or weighing between 8 and 9.99 pounds.

The top five ShareLunker producing lakes in 2018 included Lake Fork near Quitman with 73 entries, Lake Conroe near Houston with 41 entries, Lake Athens in Athens with 28 entries, Sam Rayburn Reservoir near Jasper with 21 entries, and O.H. Ivie Lake near San Angelo with 17 entries.

Lake Fork was also the top producer of 13 pound or larger “Legacy Class” bass last year with three entries, including a 13.06 pound bass caught March 11, a 13.00 pound bass caught March 8, and a 15.48 pound bass caught March 2. Other lakes producing 13 pound or larger “Legacy Class” bass last year included Sam Rayburn Reservoir, which produced a 13.06 pound bass March 31; Kurth Reservoir, which produced a 13.34 pound bass March 25; and Twin Buttes Reservoir, which produced a 13.40 pound bass March 14.

“The anglers who loaned their ‘Legacy Class’ bass to us last year for our selective breeding program made a generous and valuable contribution towards the future of bass fishing in Texas,” Brookshear said. “In addition to stocking their offspring back into the lakes where they were caught, we are incorporating offspring from the pure Florida largemouth bass ‘Legacy Class’ ShareLunkers into our hatchery broodstock so that in coming years we can stock millions of these selectively-bred big bass offspring statewide.”

Last year, four of the ‘Legacy Class’ fish spawned successfully at the Texas Freshwater Fisheries Center in Athens and thousands of those Toyota ShareLunker offspring were stocked in Twin Buttes Reservoir, Sam Rayburn Reservoir, Kurth Reservoir, and Lake Fork. Because the Kurth Reservoir fish was a pure Florida largemouth bass, hatchery staff were able to retain 18,000 fingerlings for the state’s largemouth bass ShareLunker broodstock development.

enter “Legacy Class” Toyota ShareLunker bass over 13 pounds receive a catch kit, a 13lb+ Legacy decal, VIP access to awards programming at the Toyota Bassmaster Texas Fest, a replica of their fish, and an entry into both the “Legacy Class” and year-end ShareLunker Prize Drawing to win a $5,000 Bass Pro Shops shopping spree and an annual fishing license. The 2018 “Legacy Class” drawing winner was angler Michael Terrebonne of Cut Off, Louisiana, who caught ShareLunker 572 from Lake Fork March 8.

Anglers who enter a Toyota ShareLunker in every other category through Dec. 31 also receive great prizes, including a catch kit filled with merchandise and a drawing entry for a year-end $5,000 Bass Pro Shops shopping spree and annual fishing license. The year-end $5,000 Bass Pro Shops shopping spree and annual fishing license winner for 2018 will be announced in a Facebook Live broadcast at noon on Jan. 11 on the Toyota ShareLunker Facebook page.

With the 2019 season underway as of Jan. 1, anglers can enter their big bass catches in all categories on the Toyota ShareLunker app - available for free download from the Apple App Store and Google Play - or on the Toyota ShareLunker website, https://texassharelunker.com. The mobile app and website entry forms also include simple instructions for anglers who would like to provide a sample of fish scales from their lunker bass to TPWD researchers for genetic analysis.

Anglers who catch a 13 pound or larger “Legacy Class” bass through March 31 can enter by calling the program directly - any time of day - at (903) 681-0550.

February Signals Prespawn Urges

“I know a lot of people that are stir crazy right now and really looking for a break in the weather so they can get on the water. February is upon us and all your wishes will shortly come true. January was a cold one and the big bass were nestled up in their “no eating” hiding spots also waiting for more sunny days so they could start exploring for a procreation area. February usually signals prespawn urges and you can bet there will be some giants caught on Fork this month. If memory serves me correctly, there was a thirteen plus bass caught on Fork in January and I look for several more to be caught over the next two months. Any cast could produce the lunker of a lifetime.

Now let’s consider the different possibilities on how to attack the wary green fish. If the sun pops out for the day, you need to head to the backs of the creeks and pursue the shallow bite particularly in the afternoon. Shallow water will absorb the sun’s rays more quickly causing the bass to move up for the warmth. By the same token, this same water cools more quickly when a major front slides through. Bass will move back out until the high pressure dissipates. While this transition is taking place the deep bite will be in vogue. Staging bass will hold on points and areas just outside of their spawning grounds. The key depth range should be focused in the 12-15 ft area. Big bass will stage at key junctures at the mouths of pockets also and play a waiting game with the water temps that suit their liking. This is when you bring out the big guns to usher in the trophy bass. The A-rig will be the go to strategy and it’s set up is all important to the trophy success. Everyone has their favorite way to rig these umbrella monstrosities but common sense will lead you down the right path based upon the “where” you will be throwing it. Naturally, if you are in open water with no timber, the best rig would be to use a 3/16 ounce swimbait head and cover them with any five inch swimbait. As for colors, start with white and adjust from there. I found last year that dark colored baits worked better on a day to day basis. Arkansas Shiner, Dirty Sanchez and Houdini all performed well when using the Reaction Innovation Skinny Dippers. I will go as far to say that we had some great days using the Little Dippers instead of the five inch versions. It all comes down to what the fish want. Option two is to rig the A-rig with weedless swimbaits using belly weighted hooks. This will keep you out of trouble when casting into timber. Once rigged, I use 25lb P-line on a 5:1 gear ratio reel all loaded on a 7'11” TFO rod. This is a great launching pad for this heavy rig and it allows you to hurl it quite a ways. Once you make

Most spring seasons across the Lone Star State, legendary East Texas big bass factory Lake Fork is a center of attention. That tends to happen quite frequently at the 27,264-acre reservoir, a largemouth fishing paradise often described as the best bass lake anywhere in Texas.

That’s not surprising given the fact that Barry St. Clair’s current 18.18-pound state record largemouth bass comes from Fork. Add in Mark Stevenson’s previous 17.67-pound benchmark bass, seven of the state’s 10 biggest largemouths ever caught, 12 of the top 15, 16 of the top 25, and 30 of the top 50, and Fork’s credentials are very strong. And then there’s the staggering fact that a full 264 of the 576 13-pound or better ShareLunker bass ever entered into the famous Texas Parks and Wildlife Department program, come from the East Texas lake. Claiming some 45 percent of all ShareLunker entries, there’s little doubt that Fork is Texas’ big bass king.

If Fork is already on full display during the March, April and May spawning season when big female bass move shallow, it will be even more so this year. That’s because the Bassmaster Elite Series and TPWD officials announced the end of 2018 that the third annual Toyota Bassmaster Texas Fest is coming to Fork for a May 2-6, 2019 run.

That means that professional angling heavyweights like Kevin VanDam, Jordan Lee, Mike Iaconelli, Brandon Palaniuk, Edwin Evers, Greg Hackney, Brent Ehrler, Jeff Kriet, Kelly Jordon, and others will be hitting Fork during the best time of the year. At stake is some $1 million in prize money, a Toyota pick-up truck for the angler who catches the event’s biggest bass, and a chance to qualify for the 2020 Bassmaster Classic.

Sponsored by the Lake Fork Chamber, the Wood County Industrial Commission, and Emory, TX Tourism, the Texas Fest event will be covered in real time on Bassmaster.com and WatchESPN. And fans will also get to see the excitement on The Bassmasters television program that airs on ESPN2 and ESPN Classic.

“Fishing could be off the charts at that time,” said Dave Terre, chief of TPWD’s Inland Fisheries Management and Research department, in a prior news release. “This outstanding bass fishery is the result of progressive fisheries management practices by TPWD and its partners over the past 38 years,” he added. “The opportunity to showcase this world-class bass fishery on the Bassmaster stage, with a special tournament format we helped create, is something really special.”

This 2019 event is being held at roughly the same time as the 2014 Toyota Texas Bass Classic event was at Fork. By that tournament’s end, Huntington, Texas bass pro Keith Combs had weighed in a three-day, 15-bass total of 110 pounds even. On one of those days, the Texas angler checked in a five bass limit of 42-pounds, boosted by a 10 pound, 14 ounce largemouth.

Combs commented in a prior news release that to get 100 pounds in four days was a major accomplishment, and to do it in three was unheard of. He went on to say, “It’s nothing about the angler, but it’s a testament to this lake.”

But Combs wasn’t alone in catching huge sacks of bass in 2014 since Elite Series pro Stetson Blaylock also joined the “Century Club” with a three-day total of 102-8.

Well – as far as the crappie fishing goes – I wish I had more new for you. But, as life goes, I am still in Missouri with my mom and dad. I came up here for the holidays (as usual) – but, I could see they needed help with trips to K.C. for my dad’s treatments and Dr. appointments. Pop’s birthday is Feb. 19th...he’ll be 86 and mom will be 89 this year. So needless to say, that 200 mile trip is not easy for them! So, I’m very glad to take this time while the weather and lake level conditions are at their worst on Fork and spend that time with them and help all I can.

Here at Truman Lake, we’ve been snowed in – iced in – and coldest weather in decades with unbelievable winds. But, the challenge of all was that there was no one to help with Buddy through the holidays. So Buddy got to go on his first ever “Road Trip”! It has been an adventure! All I can say is it would be easier if he only weighed 20 lbs! But, he has been a trooper. Walking him on a leash in all this crazy cold weather has been a challenge. I really miss my fenced yard. We both learned what it’s like to hit the end of a retractor rope at 120 lbs. It was great to see how much he enjoyed all the snow. He loved just rolling in it and would just lick it as he walked! Then one night, we had to stay over in the city, so Buddy spent his very first night in a Hampton Inn Motel. He has become quite the traveler and doesn’t mind waiting in the truck during doctor appointments. I think what he likes the best is all the drive-thru hamburgers he gets! I can’t wait to share all the photos and videos of his travels on facebook when I get home or when I have cell service. My folks live where Verizon calls their “Dead Zone.” That is why its so hard to reach me while I’m here. It is truly like living off the grid! I appreciate everyone’s patience in booking your trips. I have to drive 20 miles to town to get or send any messages. So, if you haven’t heard back from me, please try again and I’ll get to you as soon as I can.

I always get excited about this time of year because mid-February is when the big crappie start moving back up the creeks! When that happens, start checking that 22 to 35 ft. Right now you will likely find them in 35 to 45 ft. Just keep looking for baitfish on your graph and target those depths. Double rigged jigs about a foot apart works well. I like to put a “bubba bait” on top and a Lake Fork Tackle “live baby shad” on bottom. The colors working can change daily so get a good assortment of colors to try out. Main lake points, deep water humps, tree lines, creek channels and stump beds are great places to check. I’m very excited to get back in my Skeeter Solera. This month will be my one year anniversary of being in a Skeeter! I can’t begin to tell you how much I’ve enjoyed being in the Solera 189, and now in the Solera 205. If you haven’t seen one, check out your local boat shows or come by Lake Fork Marina and I’ll be happy to show you mine! I call it my “Luxury Liner!” At first I was a little intimidated by such a big motor – but, now I realize this Yamaha 250 Sho is just perfect for this Solera! All my customers are loving fishing out of this awesome boat! Well for now Buddy and I wish you all the best and we are both looking forward to being back at Lake Fork! He won’t let me out of his sight. He’s afraid he’ll miss his ride back to Texas!

I want to send a huge “Thank You” to neighbor Clint for taking care of everything while I’ve been gone.

Also thanks for all the thoughts and prayers sent our way for my Dad – Mom – and brother John!
Texas triangle of Emory, Quitman and Mineola. All of those towns should see a big influx of anglers and fishing fans as Texas Fest — one of nine regular-season Elite Series events — pays a visit.

For all of the excitement that the tournament is likely to bring, some observers quickly questioned recently how an Elite Series event can be held on Fork, a slot limit lake where anglers are required to release bass between 16 and 24 inches in length, not to mention only being able to retain one bass greater than 24-inches in length each day.

To comply with the slot limit regulation and to minimize handling stress on bass, TPWD will work with B.A.S.S. to use the 'catch-weigh-immediate release' tournament format that was originally born at the Toyota Texas Bass Classic at Lake Fork in 2007.

Under that format, which Tyler-area Bassmaster Elite Series and Major League Fishing pro Kelly Jordon helped create, a judge in each competitor's boat weighs and records the official weight of each bass caught.

After that, all bass are immediately released back into the water except for one fish over the slot limit, which can then be taken back to the Texas Fest weigh-in stage to show off to excited fans in attendance.

Bruce Akin, the CEO of the 500,000 member B.A.S.S. organization, is one of those fans. "B.A.S.S. and the Bassmaster Elite Series anglers have long wanted to conduct an Elite event on Lake Fork, which is a bucket-list fishery for bass anglers worldwide," said Akin, in a prior news release. "The innovative catch-weigh-release format — along with the support of Gulf States Toyota, Texas Parks and Wildlife and the family of B.A.S.S. sponsors — enables us to finally show what Lake Fork is capable of producing. We can't wait to go there."

Cindy Hamrick, vice president of marketing for Gulf States Toyota stated in a prior news release, "We are proud to once again present the 2019 Toyota Bassmaster Texas Fest benefiting Texas Parks and Wildlife, which showcases the great Texas outdoors. Our continued partnership with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department allows them to offer the Toyota ShareLunker Program and a number of youth and urban outreach programs."

When the Elite Series comes to Fork this spring, the full field of anglers will fish Thursday and Friday, May 2-3, to accumulate the heaviest five-bass daily limits.

Anglers will then take a break on Saturday, May 4, for a special Fan Appreciation Day with Bassmaster University seminars, the Bassmaster Outdoors Expo, and the annual Bassmaster High School All-American Fishing Team Tournament.

On Sunday, May 5, the field will be trimmed down for semifinal round action. And then on Monday, May 6, the event will see the Top 12 pros contest for the 2019 Texas Fest championship title.

It is anticipated that record-setting catches of giant-size bass will be seen in 2019. These are the fish that have made Lake Fork a top destination for bass fishing for decades."
Tyler Man Named to Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame

The Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame committee announced Alan Haynes of Tyler, the former C.E.O and President of The Sportster Inc. retail sporting goods chain and lifelong sportsman, will be inducted into the hall of fame in 2019.

“There are few people who have made as big of an impact on Texas fishing as Alan Haynes,” said Dan Kessler, TFF Hall of Fame Committee Chair. “For more than 45 years he has demonstrated through his professional work and personal contributions to our community a commitment to promoting fishing and the conservation of our natural resources. Not only has he been recognized nationally as a leader among sporting goods retailers, he has been a true leader in Texas’ fishing community, and we are proud to induct him into the Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame in 2019.”

Haynes, who one nominee dubbed “the gold standard for judging a sportsman and conservationist,” began his career in the 1970's founding The Sportster Inc. in Tyler - a fishing tackle and outdoor sports store that “had it all.” Noted in several nomination letters, Haynes' forward-thinking and innovation as a fishing tackle retailer brought new products to Texas anglers along with educational opportunities to learn from world-renowned professional anglers and experts.

Professionally, Haynes served as chair of the Nation's Best Sports Buying Groups fishing tackle buying committee representing 650 participating stores nationwide, was an advisory board member for Fishing Tackle Retailer Magazine and was a recipient of the National Leadership Award as Independent Sporting Goods Retailer of the Year by the Sporting Goods Dealer Magazine.

But outside of the store, Haynes has also devoted a significant amount of time and effort serving with many non-profit and government organizations that promote conservation initiatives and share a common goal of building the next generation of youth into fishermen and hunters.

Haynes was a co-founder of the Tyler Woods and Waters Club, now called the East Texas Woods and Waters Foundation, a locally supported organization that helps fund and promote outdoors-related activities throughout East Texas. In addition to helping to develop the Tyler Nature Center, the foundation has opened public fishing access in the Neches River, provides youth and family fishing access to Tyler-area urban fishing lakes, and recently installed a handicapped accessible fishing pier at Tyler's Faulkner Park.

Haynes also served as a leader on several boards and committees with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, including the TPWD Freshwater Fishing Advisory Committee, the planning committee for the Texas Freshwater Fisheries Center in Athens and as the first chairman of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Foundation Kid Fish Program.

“Haynes’ lifetime commitment to promoting fishing and expanding access in our state has created opportunities for countless Texas anglers and families to connect with each other in the outdoors and pass down hunting and fishing traditions to future generations,” Kessler said. “His influence, knowledge and unselfish contributions to the sport have truly made a (See Tyler Man Inducted....Continued on Page 12)

The Texas Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame is housed at the Texas Freshwater Fisheries Center in Athens and its mission is to “recognize and honor those who have made a lasting contribution to freshwater fishing in Texas, and to foster a sense of appreciation, awareness and participation in the sport of fishing.” Since 1997, the hall of fame has inducted 34 individuals and organizations, including the 2018 inductees Shannon Thompkins and the Lake Fork Sportsman’s Association.

Recognitions Showcase Outstanding Achievements for TPWD

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission (TPW) recognized several Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) staff and partners for contributions and efforts supporting the agency mission to conserve and manage the state’s natural and cultural resources.

Recognitions during a recent commission meeting included a donation from the Apache Corporation dedicated to the repair of the Balmorhea State Park pool, graduation of the third Texas Game Warden Citizens Academy, commissioning of a K-9 game warden, and award presentations from the Southwestern Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies (SEAFWA) and the Shikar-Safari Club International.

Apache Corporation Donates $1 Million to Repair Balmorhea Pool

A $1 million contribution in support of Balmorhea State Park pool repairs was presented by Apache Corporation marking the culmination of a $2 million fundraising effort led by Texas Parks and Wildlife Foundation (TPWF). The pool at Balmorhea State Park was closed in early 2018 following a structural collapse of a wall caused by years of erosion from the flow of water from the springs. The fundraising effort was jump-started with a $1 million challenge grant announced by TPWF and Apache in August 2018. Apache pledged to match all donations dollar-for-dollar up to $1 million. Donations poured in, and by Jan. 17, more than $1 million had been raised.

TPWD Law Enforcement Division Graduates Third Texas Game Warden Citizens Academy

Nineteen people were recognized for their completion of the annual Texas Game Warden Citizens Academy.

The academy gives the citizens of Texas the opportunity to understand the role of game wardens and to provide an inside view of the many duties they carry out each day. The curriculum included an overview of program functions including game warden training, law, land and marine patrol techniques, outreach, accident investigations and reconstruction, criminal investigations, search and rescue, K-9 operations, officer safety, technology and recruiting.

The program consisted of four sessions, including classroom instruction and field trips, scheduled monthly which began Aug. 30. Attendees also had the opportunity to interact with and develop an in-depth knowledge of the complex duties of game wardens.

K-9 Game Warden Dexter Receives Badge

K-9 game warden Dexter was awarded his official badge and collar by his handler game warden Krystal Thompson. Dexter joined the K-9 team Jan. 2018 and attended Utah Peace Officer Standards and Training, where he became TPWD’s first K-9 certified in human remains detection.

Since his certification, Dexter has worked with the Texas Rangers, as well as multiple sheriff’s offices and police departments statewide on blood evidence searches, cold cases and missing person cases. He has also helped his fellow game wardens locate drowning victims. Dexter and warden Thompson are stationed in Smithville.

Game Warden Captain Eric Collins Named SEAFWA Texas Officer of the Year

Game Warden Captain Eric Collins, stationed in the Lufkin area, was named the SEAFWA Texas Officer of the Year. This marks the 49th year the award has been presented to a Texas game warden.

Collins began his career with TPWD in 2003 and has been stationed in Delta and Cherokee Counties before becoming a captain last year. During his tenure, he has excelled in public outreach by presenting educational programs, such as youth-oriented hunting and fishing events, annually. For these events, he has worked with various organizations to secure supplies and provides hunter education training before the youth hunting events.

He also has been instrumental for recruiting as (See TPWD Achievements...Continued on Page 22)
Lake Fork Sportsman’s Association “Preserving the Legend That is Lake Fork”

By Carolyn D. West, President

Lake Fork Sportsman’s Association’s mission is to “Preserve the Legend of Lake Fork” and the Association’s activities are heavily vested in that effort. From assisting Texas Parks and Wildlife with re-stocking fingerlings annually to replacing habitat areas to replacing valued vegetation, LFSA works to preserve the aging Lake Fork. LFSA started 2019 with a newly elected slate of officers and directors. They are:

- Carolyn West, President
- Larry Marler, Vice President
- Peggy York, Secretary
- Katie Carter, Treasurer
- Mike Kostial, Director-at-Large
- Jim Range, Director-at-Large
- Ed Swenson, Director-at-Large

At January’s meeting, the annual budget was presented to the membership and approved. And the year began! One focus is re-stocking fingerlings and increasing their survivability. The public proved last year that their help in the distribution of these fingerlings is priceless. The intention of LFSA is to continue using the public in coordination with Texas Parks and Wildlife for this distribution.

Those who have long term memories of Lake Fork know that grasses and cover for fish have been diminishing for years. LFSA, TPWD and Yantis High School are continuing a program to propagate native vegetation in the Yantis HS Greenhouse. The FFA class nurtures the plants and then LFSA and TPWD take the students on the lake to plant it for replenishment purposes. Experimental growing and planting of aquatic grasses from 2018 has had promising results.

Providing artificial structures as fish hides has also proven successful. This year new concepts will be tested to provide “Fish Cities” that allow areas of protected growth from breeding to lunker stages of the life cycle.

LFSA’s Live Release Boat (LRB) can be seen at most tournaments on Lake Fork. The three one-hundred gallon tanks hold treated water kept to a controlled temperature. Fish are kept alive from weigh-in to releasing them back in the lake.

The High School Tackle Program is a project encouraging and assisting high school fishing teams. LFSA has a committee collecting and repairing rods, reels, tackle and fishing accessories for the purpose of awarding them to the fishing teams around Lake Fork.

LFSA has recently purchased a Habitat Enhancement Barge to be used with many projects of restoration and research. This twenty-eight foot barge, with motor and trailer, will be donated to Texas Parks and Wildlife for primary use on Lake Fork. TPWD will rig the barge with tools for shoreline restoration, habitat enhancement, and aquatic plant replacement and other projects working with LFSA.

LFSA meets on the second Tuesday monthly at Tiffany's Restaurant, Lake Fork Marina. Members usually arrive around 5:30 for dinner and the meeting starts punctually at 6:30 p.m. Membership is open and visitors and potential new members are always welcome.

The list of projects is long; the activities are many; and the membership is dedicated to the mission. As the song says, “We have a long way to go and a short time to get there.”

“Knowing What To Look For!”

By Michael McFarland

Spring is in the air here in Northeast Texas. Regardless of the fact that we still have some cold temperatures and winter storms to experience the next few weeks the big bass will begin to to be on the move. Each day now we gain more minutes of sunlight making the days longer and longer. This in fact accompanied with a couple day warm trend really triggers the most mature and biggest bass to begin searching and gorging in ravishing form before spawning. I will use my Lowrance sonar to find hard bottoms and transitions leading to the shallow water spawning grounds. You can clearly see the hard bottom return in this image. The thick solid yellow bottom signal on sonar screen (left) and very solid bright spot on the down scan screen (right) most definitely says hard bottom and possible shell bed. I will spend a lot of time graphing areas very thoroughly looking specifically for the hard bottom locations. Long points with close by creeks leading to multiple secondary points are my first choices to begin looking. I will search the entire area from 2 feet deep to 25. In most east Texas lakes these hard bottom areas will also hold shell beds in specific current oriented locations. These shell bed areas are the spot within the spot and hold a higher concentration of plankton therefore the gizzard shad both feed and spawn there and if you know big bass like I do they love them gizzard shad. The bass will visit these hard bottom shell bed areas on a frequent basis but very nomadically. This means whenever they want to. In my opinion its best to pick the right location and spend a good amount of time there, dont rush around. Fish diving birds are the best sign, if the birds are there and diving then the bait is there and you can bet the bass will be there too. I hope this helps you find and catch some big early prestaging bass this year. If your interested in learning more by on the water training or just want to book a trip and catch one of these big ole Lake Fork monsters please contact me.

February is ‘Big Bass Month’ on Lake Fork

By Andrew Grills

February is here, and it’s one of the best months for big bass! I once heard a wise fishing guide say, “There’s not another month of the year when more fish are at their biggest.” While it’s definitely not the time of year to go for numbers, there is no better time for an opportunity at a giant. One bite can make the difference between a disappointing trip, and a day you will never forget.

Right now the water temperature is somewhere in the upper 40s. On a sunny day you’ll see warmer surface temperatures, but we put a little too much emphasis on that this time of year. Last year, my biggest February bass was on the side of the creek that was 3 or 4 degrees colder than the other. So much for that, “find the warmest water” theory. That fish probably didn’t know the other side of the creek was warmer.

The lake is a few inches below full pool. Half a foot low seems to be the new “full pool”. That’s a tough level for this time of year. It’s a little bit too low and a little bit too high at the same time. It’s also important to keep in mind how deceiving the lake appears at this level. There are a lot of stumps just inches below the surface.

Fishing has been slow this winter. We are looking forward to seeing how things pick up this spring. There are still some giant fish in Lake Fork, and I’m sure we will see a few over the next couple months.

In February, I fish in 10 feet or less on most days. On a sunny afternoon, you’ll catch some super shallow. If you can find any vegetation, there will likely be bass in the area. I am concentrating on areas in the mouth of creeks and adjacent to spawning areas. These are places big bass make a pitstop during this transitional time.

Try to keep your confidence up. This is the biggest challenge for a guide this time of year. Customers come with high hopes and expectations when visiting legendary Lake Fork. However, the reality is, bites are going to be few and far between this time of year. That big bite will come when you least expect it, and it could come at the close of a long, disappointing day.

As always, please feel free to contact me if I can be of any assistance on your upcoming trip. I’ll leave you with one of my favorite Bible verses. It’s one of my favorites because it describes what happened in my life 17 months ago. “Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?”

the cast, let it sink to the bottom, then retrieve it slowly back to the boat. A large bass will literally knock the rod out of your hands. It’s a must do pattern in February.

Big swimbait will also play a huge roll this month, especially the expensive jointed baits. Swim or twitch them slowing in shallow water during the afternoons and hold on to your business. Strikes can be vicious. Other options to target bass would include using jigs, black/blue, in the creek bends towards the back of most all major creek arms. They are all lined with timber and will harbor toad stature green fish. The final option as mentioned above deals with the shallow water bite. Take time to locate submerged vegetation and this will be the key to success in the late afternoons. As the water warms, dig out a rattletrap and cover some water around this vegetation. Chatterbaits will also work in these same areas and traps need to be red or gold with the chatterbait dressed in white.

February is also a great month to catch numbers on the power plant lakes. You can destroy them on the hot water impoundments and catch 30-50 fish per day up to the eight pound mark. If cabin fever has set in, give me a call and we can wear them out where the water temps are summer like. If you are headed out to Lake Fork in February searching for the trophy of a lifetime, I would love to be a part of this trophy quest. I also have gift certificates available if you have friends or loved one’s who have dream’t of landing a huge bass. You can contact me at 409 782-4269 or e-mail me at skeet21c@aol.com. TPWD Urges Hunters and Landowners to be Vigilant for Signs of Chronic Wasting Disease

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) has confirmed chronic wasting disease (CWD) in three whitetailed deer in Medina, Dallam, and Hartley Counties, and in three mule deer in Hudspeth, Hartley, and El Paso Counties. TPWD emphasizes that the discoveries underscore the importance for aggressive detection, sampling and herd management to control the spread of CWD.

The affected whitetailed deer in Medina County was harvested by a hunter on a private ranch in the current South-Central CWD Containment Zone, in the vicinity of captive deer breeding facilities where CWD had earlier been confirmed. Two CWD-infected whitetails and one mule deer were also hunter harvested in the Panhandle CWD Containment Zone, and two CWD-infected mule deer were harvested in the Trans-Pecos CWD Containment Zone. Each of the new confirmations occurred in a county where CWD had previously been detected.

In 2018, 49 cases of CWD were confirmed in permitted breeder facilities, and 8 cases were confirmed in animals taken outside a breeder facility or related release site. Thus far, with two exceptions, cases of CWD in the South-Central Containment Zone have been limited to deer breeding facilities and attached release sites where the owner breeds white-tailed deer pursuant to permits issued by TPWD. The permitted facilities in Medina County where CWD was confirmed are each operating under herd plans that require ante-mortem testing to detect and remove positive and exposed animals to attempt to reduce the chance of the disease escaping those facilities.

well. Game warden Brandon Thacker entered the TPWD law enforcement division as an intern and was unsure of whether he wanted to be a warden. He spent a tremendous amount of time with Collins, and after two internships and countless volunteered hours, he became a Texas game warden. Collins was recognized by Sam Houston State University for his efforts that were devoted to helping Thacker. Collins is currently mentoring another young man who has chosen this career path.

Wise County Game Warden David Pellizzari Named Shikar-Safari Club International Wildlife Officer of the Year

The Shikar-Safari Club International has recognized Wise County game warden David Pellizzari as the Wildlife Officer of the Year. Every year, the Shikar-Safari Club International recognizes game wardens from North America as Wildlife Officers of the Year. This marks the 39th year this award has been presented to a Texas game warden. A member of the Swift Water Rescue team, Pellizzari is a swift water technician, boat operator and instructor. He has assisted in training game warden cadets in boat operations, sonar, firearms and swift water training over the past two years at Lake Bridgeport.

He is also now an executive board member of the Texas Game Warden Association and the Game Warden Peace Officer Association. In these roles, he advocates and promotes Texas game wardens for TPWD across the state. Pellizzari was also appointed as a board member to the Palo Pinto County Emergency Services District when this board was first created.

His achievements include Master Peace Officer, TCOLE instructor, firearms instructor, field training officer for new hires, and Glock and M4 armorer. He has received two Director’s Life Saving Awards in addition to the title of boat accident investigator.
Record Number Participate in 2019 First Day Hikes

The chilly start to the New Year did little to discourage the 3,938 visitors that hit the trail at a Texas State Park for a First Day Hike on Jan. 1. Texas had the fourth highest participation in the country with the largest number of parks hosting events.

Visitors hiked, biked and paddled their way into 2019 at one of the 77 Texas state parks that hosted 124 events throughout the day. In total, participants trekked 7,086 miles statewide.

“We were so excited to see a record number of visitor's ring in 2019 with a First Day Hike at a Texas State Park,” said Rodney Franklin, Director of Texas State Parks. “First Day Hikes have become a tradition for many families and we encourage everyone to continue to explore the beautiful views and vistas found at parks statewide throughout the year.”

The First Day Hikes events ranged from strolls on scenic trails, midnight walks, polar plunges, bike rides, and short treks with four-legged family members to more strenuous hikes for experienced visitors.

Mother Neff State Park, located near Waco, had the most participants with 393 visitors taking part in the four First Day Hike events held that day. Cedar Hill State Park near Dallas and Brazos Bend State Park near Houston weren’t far behind.

Several parks had more than 100 people participate in a single event. At one event at Cedar Hill State Park, 275 visitors hit the trail. Nationally, 1,270 guided First Day Hikes were offered from Alaska to Florida and park rangers hiked with more than 72,700 participants covering over 150,280 miles. This was a record number of hikers and events and included international participation from Canada, where they hosted 6 hikes for 185 attendees.

taken close to the border with New Mexico, a state where CWD had previously been discovered. In the Panhandle, CWD has been confirmed in several mule deer and white-tailed deer; as well as some elk, which are not considered game animals in Texas.

The latest CWD confirmations follow a two-day CWD Symposium that was organized and hosted by TPWD, the Texas Animal Health Commission, and the Texas A&M Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory in early December. Approximately 200 landowners, deer enthusiasts, scientists, and representatives from state fish and wildlife agencies from around the country came together to share data and to discuss best practices to address the spread of CWD. As a recurring theme, presenters stressed the need for states and landowners to take early action to investigate CWD, limit deer movement and to test early.

“Case studies in other states which are dealing with CWD reaffirm that doing nothing is plainly not an option,” said Dr. Bob Dittmar, TPWD wildlife veterinarian. “The outlook in those states where little or no action was taken does not look good. In contrast, Texas has committed to a more proactive approach that moves quickly to control the disease where discovered by limiting the movement of deer exposed to infected deer, and by reducing or eliminating deer where the disease is proven to exist. Texas also establishes containment and surveillance zones where post mortem testing is mandated. We believe that working with landowners and hunters to implement all reasonable measures to address this disease head on is the most important factor to our success thus far. Those in CWD areas can assist by providing samples to the department and harvesting deer to keep densities down.”

Hunters who harvest mule deer, white-tailed deer, elk, red deer, or sika deer within the Trans-Pecos, Panhandle, and South-Central Texas CWD Containment and Surveillance Zones are REQUIRED to bring their animals to a TPWD check station within 48 hours of harvest. The department also urges hunters who take a deer outside of a CWD containment or surveillance zone to still help out by providing voluntary samples. Hunters and landowners interested in providing voluntary samples can contact their local TPWD biologist or simply bring the animal to any of the department’s check stations located around the state. Those stations can be found at www.tpwd.texas.gov or in TPWD’s Outdoor Annual.

Hunters are also encouraged to report any “sick looking” mule deer, white-tailed deer, elk, red deer, or sika deer while hunting in any CWD zone to TPWD. To report a “sick looking” animal, simply contact a TPWD wildlife biologist or Texas game warden. Additional information about CWD, including carcass movement restrictions, and check station locations, can be found online at https://tpwd.texas.gov/huntwild/wild/diseases/cwd/.

“We are very appreciative of the effort and cooperation that has been put forth by the vast majority of landowners, hunters and local officials across the state,” said Carter Smith, TPWD Executive Director. “Our ability to control the spread of this fatal disease is directly related to the cooperation offered by many, especially landowners and hunters, and we pledge to continue to work with everyone to minimize the impacts of this disease.”

“The Texas Animal Health Commission is committed to working cooperatively with TPWD, USDA, industry and the private sector to limit the spread of this serious disease,” said Dr. Andy Schwartz, State Veterinarian and TAHC Executive Director. “TAHC urges landowners and hunters to support required surveillance efforts in the Surveillance and Containment Zones by testing all hunter harvested exotic CWD susceptible species. Land owners in all other areas of the state must test up to three harvested exotic CWD susceptible species per premises each year.”

Leaving a Trail—Trinity County game wardens were patrolling Alabama Creek WMA opening weekend of deer season when they noticed a truck parked on the side of the road with three hunters standing next to it. As the wardens approached, the three hunters jumped in the truck and started driving away. The wardens made contact with the hunters and noticed a deer carcass in a game carrier on the back of the truck. While one warden checked the deer and licenses, the other warden walked back to where the truck was originally parked, walked down a trail about 30 yards, and found a dead white-tailed buck hidden in the brush. The three hunters were interviewed and denied shooting the buck, which did not meet the minimum antler restrictions, and further claimed they did not see the deer. The wardens instructed the hunters to take them to the area where they were hunting. A K9 game warden was called to assist and, with the dog’s help, wardens were able to track where both deer were shot. Evidence of the shootings was found at two of the hunters’ stands, along with the path used to drag out the dead deer. The wardens also found photographic evidence of the harvested animals on the hunters’ cellphones. After three hours of investigating, numerous citations were issued including restitution. Cases are pending.

Recreational Poaching Vehicle—Comal County game wardens investigating a complaint about the possible illegal killing of a white-tailed deer on the west end of Canyon Lake discovered the animal’s abandoned carcass. An area resident walking his dog had spooked an individual who was in the process of cleaning the deer, and the suspect fled the scene with just the deer’s head and tenderloins. The resident recognized the man cleaning the deer and was able to provide a name and the location of the suspect’s RV. The wardens made contact with the man and after a few questions, the individual admitted to killing the deer from his RV using a .22 caliber rifle; it is unlawful to hunt deer with a rimfire cartridge. The man denied keeping the deer’s head and antlers, but during subsequent interrogation confessed to having stained the head in a nearby tree. The 63-year-old man stated he had never seen a deer that big, and felt compelled to shoot it before someone else did. The man was cited for hunting deer with illegal means and for waste of game. The man also faces civil restitution on the 14-point white-tailed buck deer. The cases are pending.

Return to Sender—A Comal County sheriff’s deputy notified game wardens of the discovery of what appeared to be an animal carcass in an illegal dump site. The deputy also stated he had found a blood-stained cardboard box in the pile with a shipping label that included the address of a home less than five miles from the dump location. The wardens confirmed the carcass was that of a white-tailed deer, and decided to travel to the address listed to see if there was any link between the home and the illegal dumping. The wardens met with the homeowner, who declared adamantly he did not allow hunting on his property. The wardens observed kernels of corn in the driveway, typically used to bait deer, but the homeowner denied any knowledge of how the golden nuggets got there. The wardens looked around the property and soon found a pop-up blind, a mineral block and a 50-pound

A bag of deer corn. The homeowner was completely flabbergasted by the findings. A subsequent investigation led to a friend of the homeowner’s son, who had set up the blind, hunted and killed a white-tailed buck deer without the knowledge of the homeowner. The 20-year-old “friend” admitted to having killed the deer and dumping the carcass. He had quartered up the deer, but the wardens discovered that the meat had been left in a garage refrigerator for eight days and had spoiled. The man was cited for possession of an illegally-killed game animal, littering and failure to keep game in edible condition. Additionally, civil restitution will be assessed on the 11-point buck. The cases are pending.

---No Sale---The week prior to deer season, a concerned citizen reported seeing deer legs sticking out of the back of a pickup truck. The caller knew the owner of the vehicle and provided Hardeman County game wardens with an identification. Upon arrival at the suspect’s residence, the warden observed a man take off running with a set of antlers in each hand. The warden caught up to the suspect after a short foot pursuit. After detaining and securing the subject, the warden discovered a second suspect behind the residence washing blood out of the back of a pickup truck that fit the description given to him by the complainant. During interviews, the suspects admitted to shooting six deer the previous night, and selling five of them to a local deer processor. They planned to keep the sixth deer for themselves. The two subjects offered to take the sixth deer back to the processor and attempt to sell it. A Childress County game warden was called in to assist with the sting operation since the processor was located in his county. The subjects sold the deer to the processor for $50 as planned and, once the transaction was complete, the wardens made the bust. During questioning, the processor admitted these illegal sales were common and had occurred in the past. A total of 60 citations and warnings were issued to all involved, including: hunt for hire, buy/sell game animal, possess illegally taken wildlife, possess without wildlife resource document, improper cold storage books, possess in closed season. Several more cases are still being investigated.

Tickets and restitution are pending.

---His Tag, You’re It---Crockett County wardens on patrol entered a hunting camp with several vehicles, but no one present. The wardens found two fresh deer carcasses that, based on the tags, were killed by the same individual a day apart. One of the two deer was tagged incorrectly. Knowing the occupants of the camp were likely out hunting, the wardens left and returned to the camp the next morning where they encountered a hunter at the gate leaving the property. The hunter said he was headed to town to buy ice and a hunting license. He claimed he had not yet been hunting, even though he had been in camp for three days. As the warden drove into the camp, he saw two men cleaning a freshly killed, but untagged, white-tailed deer. He began questioning the hunters about the two deer that were tagged differently; one correctly and one incorrectly. The hunter, whose license tags were on both deer, began making excuses and telling contradictory stories. The warden became suspicious that the hunter who left to buy a license had killed the second deer, and used a tag off of his father’s license. He asked the father to provide a handwriting sample and after comparison, determined the tags on the two deer were completed by two different individuals. Only one of the tags was completed by the father, yet his name was on both of the tags. After several hours of questioning, the father admitted that his 27-year-old son had killed a deer without a license the previous morning. The father had given his son a deer tag from his license. To finish sauce:
2 tablespoons cold, unsalted butter

Preheat oven to 225 degrees. Place the pork shoulder, fat side up, in large roasting pan and season well with salt and pepper to taste. Toss 2 heads of garlic cloves that have been peeled, but leave cloves whole around the pork. Cover well with heavy-duty aluminum foil. Slow-cook in the oven until tender and falling apart, and the internal temperature reaches 160 degrees. This should take about 6 to 8 hours. Remove from oven and let pork rest for 20 to 30 minutes. With two forks, pull apart meat into small chunks. Toss with the root beer BBQ sauce and serve.

Root beer BBQ sauce:
Reduce the 2-liter bottle of root beer to 1 cup over medium heat in a large saucepan – this takes about 1 hour. Add the vinegar, ketchup, mustard, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, Tabasco, salt, and pepper. Stir well and simmer for 20 minutes. Finish the sauce by whisking in the cold butter for extra body and flavor. Serves: 6-8

TIP: Never use diet root beer in this recipe! The sugar in the root beer is critical to the success of the recipe!

Pulled Pork with Root Beer BBQ Sauce is sure to be a hit for football fans!

son, returning to camp after purchasing ice and a hunting license, discovered that his father had confessed. The wardens counted more than 10 violations committed by the three Houston men. Appropriate cases were filed against all three men in camp for possession of untagged deer, improperly tagged deer, and hunting under the license of another. The deer were seized and donated to several Ozona residents. The 10-point antlers were seized for evidence. The cases and civil restitution are pending.

--Never Fails-- On opening night of deer season, Nov. 4, Sabine County game wardens deployed an age old tactic for catching road hunters, Bucky the deer decoy. The dummy deer was placed alongside the road in the Moore Plantation WMA within easy range of opportunist night hunters. While waiting, a white SUV slow rolled to a complete stop and the driver took a shot at Ol’ Bucky. Once he realized the deer was fake, he proceeded to drive off. The warden jumped out and ran towards the vehicle yelling “Texas Game Warden” and “Stop.” The vehicle accelerated away from him and was immediately pursued by the other wardens. Local law enforcement from Pinehill and Hemphill located the vehicle on a dead end county road and detained its occupants, a male and a female. A single shot .223 caliber rifle was discovered in the back floorboard with a spent shell casing still loaded in the chamber. The female passenger was cited and released to her mother. The male driver was arrested for evading detention and arrest with a motor vehicle, hunting deer at night, hunting deer with a light, and hunting from a vehicle. All the cases are pending.
